Rain continues to delay early planting of corn

By JOHN GRUBER
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Water, Water everywhere — and not a tractor in the field! This week's weather and crop bulletin from the Ohio Crop Reporting Service continues to tell the same story. Wet weather and limited field work. Some farmers in the northeastern part of the state are fortunate to have had a couple of days in the field recently.

I talked with a chemical salesman this week who covers the northern part of Ohio. He says there are a few scattered fields of corn planted.

What we need most is sunshine and wind to dry out these fields. At the time this column was prepared on Thursday morning the sun was trying to shine through an overcast sky and there was a good breeze blowing. Maybe — well, I'm usually wrong so I won't try to predict what's going to happen the next week or so.

RESEARCH OF RECENT years show that it's important to get corn planted early (weather permitting of course) and that the same principles apply to soybean planting.

When fields dry out and you can finally get in to plant corn there are some steps that can be taken to reduce the time for seed bed preparation.

Al Baxter, Area Extension Agronomist, suggests using a disc harrow or field cultivator to prepare unplowed stalk fields. Such a no-plow method may reduce yield but if plowing will cause much of a delay in planting then the earlier planting as a result of no-plow may offset the yield reduction.

Baxter cautions that if you use such a system you must be able to control weeds and grasses. You must also be able to get adequate plant population. Thus, planting depth and seed soil contact are also important.

Several farmers with no-till planters have commented that they may increase acreage of no-tillage and minimum tillage. One farmer has commented that where they have done an even job of plowing he may use a no-till planter and not work the plowed ground before planting.

For fellows using this approach you want to take extra steps for weed control. Especially where you have much of a problem with fall panicum. It may already have a good start and you will need to knock it back with a recommended herbicide.

CEREAL LEAF BEETLE populations over most of the state were very much reduced in 1972 compared with populations of the previous year. But this doesn't mean the populations will continue to remain low.

The cereal leaf beetle is the only insect most likely to cause large losses in small grains and particularly in oats. Areas where damage will occur cannot be predicted accurately but the eastern half of Fayette County is within the area that is most likely to incur damage in 1973.

Check oat fields soon after plant emergence for adult damage and periodically throughout the growing season for larval damage. Yield losses for wheat may not be as great as for oats. However, you need to check wheat the same as oats. Insecticide treatment is not needed unless you find two or more larvae per stem.

WHO SAID food prices are too high? Look at these figures as reported this month by the USDA. Of every $100 of after tax income we spent $23 on food in 1952, in 1972 we spent only $15.70. A decrease of 32 per cent. At the same time, expenditures have increased from $4 to $5.90 (48 per cent) for medical care and from $10.60 to $12.50 for automobile, transportation, gas and oil.

Silos dot landscape

COLUMBUS — As you have occasion to drive through the Ohio countryside this spring, notice the large number of silos. There are about 900,000 silos in Ohio, with a total capacity of more than 70 million tons of silage, according to Joe D. Blickle, Extension agricultural engineer at Ohio State University. Before 1875 there were no silos.

This rapid increase in number of silos is related to many changes in farming. Livestock numbers have increased while the amount of pasture has decreased. Many farmers have mechanized their farm operations and are now substituting high-protein grass silage for hay. Silos are also being used to store high moisture feed grains.

There are four types of silos in Ohio. The most common is the upright or tower silo. It is attractive, durable and fire and wind resistant. There is also the air-tight tower storage which keeps the amount of spoilage low.

Another type is the permanent horizontal silo, which is common on beef and dairy farms. The fourth type is the plastic covered stack silo used as a temporary or emergency silo.

Silos allow farmers to get the most feed possible from each acre of corn by utilizing the whole plant. They are somewhat inefficient though, Blickle points out, in that farmers never get as much feed out of a silo as they put in. Losses due to ensiling will depend on the type of silo, crop ensiled, its maturity and moisture content when harvested and the fineness of chopping, he points out.

Have you ever wondered why silos are in the middle of barnyards? Well, they need to be close to where animals are housed. The farmer must consider the amount of time and travel spent feeding livestock. The silo requires open space for filling and hauling silage and also for efficient use of semi-automatic conveying and feeding equipment.

The juice from a medium-size lemon should yield about 2 tablespoons.

Advantages are listed for farm partnerships

By JIM G. POLSON
Area Extension Agent

Today, larger farming operations involving more than one operator are becoming more common. Partnerships, corporations, and other joint operating agreements are often involved in these larger operations. There was an average of 187 partnerships and seven farm corporations per county in the Washington C.H. Extension Area in 1969, according to the Census of Agriculture.

Farm partnerships offer many advantages, and are expected to be on the increase in the next few years. For some, they provide solutions to one or more of the problems faced by Ohio farmers today.

First, they provide an opportunity to combine resources for a larger, more efficient operation.

Secondly, with land prices already "sky-high" and rising, and the necessity of controlling expensive farm equipment and machinery, most young people who want to farm will become even more dependent on some kind of "partnership" agreement with Mom and Dad, in order to get the use of the necessary capital. One example of the "spiraling costs" of farming is the fact that the average value of farmland in Ohio rose 11 per cent from November 1971 to November 1972.

Thirdly, they may permit an established farmer to reduce his labor commitment, by bringing a little "new blood" into the operation.

However, the mere forming of a partnership does not guarantee that it will be a success. One of the great tragedies of American farm life arises from the unnecessary indecision, gnawing doubts, and strained family feelings in father-son partnerships which lack understanding and a written agreement.

If you are now operating a partnership, or if you are considering forming a partnership, be sure that you have a written agreement which clearly outlines the details of how you actually plan to operate. A written agreement will reduce misunderstanding during the life of the partners. You can refer to the details of a written agreement even after many years. Also, if one partner dies and there is no written agreement it is often very difficult to convince all of the heirs of the terms of the agreement.

A new set of farm partnership bulletins, which outlines the steps for forming a farm partnership, is available at your local County Extension Office. If you have questions about farm business organization which are not explained in these bulletins, you may want to discuss them with your County Agricultural Agent.

Crop insurance anticipating record year

Jess Bishop, regional sales director, announced today that more Ohio farmers are insuring their crops than at any time since 1938 when Congress passed the Federal Crop Insurance Act.

Last year 4,646 corn farmers were insured for $7,038,602 and 3,682 soybean growers for $4,083,490. An estimated $6,000,000 protection, 1,350 new policies has been written for 1973, making a new record for farmers in Ohio.

Even though Ohio farmers produced a record crop in 1972, harvesting conditions were so bad that many acres were not harvested and have deteriorated to the extent that $453,000 is being paid to Ohio policyholders.

Due to extremely wet fields, planting may be late. Many farmers have signed up for Crop Insurance which protects their crops from losses caused by any natural hazard such as excess rain, flood, drought, hail, plant disease or insect damage. This protection is financed with premiums paid by farmer policyholders.

In order to maintain a sound financial position, Federal Crop Insurance continues the practice of limited gradual expansion. Many counties are near their maximum participation for 1973. May 10 is the last day any new applications or reinstatements of existing policies can be accepted for corn and soybeans.

All farmers wishing service or information should contact the Federal Crop Insurance Office at 27½ S. Detroit St., Xenia, 45385. Telephone: 513-372-5001.

To curb rear-end crashes

One of the worst of many bad driving habits is tailgating. It would take some doing to break drivers of this habit, which contributes heavily to the annual toll of auto deaths. It would not take much, though, to equip cars with a device that experts think might sharply reduce the number of such accidents.

The device referred to is nothing more exotic than a system of tail lights which would not merely signal when a car is braking, as present systems do. It would add two other elements to the information flashed to drivers behind. An amber light would let them know that the car ahead was cruising; a green light would inform them that it was accelerating.

A study a decade ago had already shown that at normal speeds in peak highway traffic volume it is all but impossible for a driver relying on ordinary brake lights to avoid rear-end collision in an emergency. By the time he has acted on the red-light message flashed by the car ahead, it is too late.

The three-light system proposed as an amendment to the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act would be no cureall. It does give promise of reducing the number of rear-end crashes, and that is well worth doing.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Kissinger's Look into the future

WASHINGTON — When drafting the momentous speech he made to the Associated Press editors this week Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on nation security affairs, took a long look at the road ahead. Within the next few years the principals with whom he has worked in formulating a policy of peace — Chou En-lai, Willy Brandt, Leonid Brezhnev — will have passed from the scene.

In Kissinger's thinking the coming three to four years will present the golden opportunity to knit together what had been started. It is an opportunity that may never occur again if this chance for peace slips away by default.

So to the editors in New York he proposed a new and comprehensive approach to Europe and Japan. "We deal with each other regionally and even competitively in economic matter, on an integrated basis in defense, and as nation-states in diplomacy," he said. He was preparing the way for the President's visit to Europe in the fall.

Without extensive progress toward economic cooperation that trip will be useless or even worse than useless. The text of the speech was given to the foreign offices of Europe shortly before its delivery. Kissinger was saying: Here is the broad outline of what could be a new chapter of understanding and common endeavor.

THE HOPE is that within the next week or 10 days response will come from across the Atlantic and the Pacific, and the long and arduous process of working out economic ties can begin. The shadow cast over this hope even as he was speaking was the Watergate scandal and its impact at home and abroad.

In the question period following his prepared address about a third of the questions dealt with Watergate. Another third concerned Vietnam and the rest were miscellaneous. Kissinger scarcely needed this indicator of where editorial interest lay, since it is reflected on the front pages of every newspaper.

Responding to the Watergate questions, he said what he has been expressing in private for some time. If we now indulge in an orgy of recrimination we shall certainly lose the chance to help lead the way to a generation of peace. President Nixon will be in office for another three and a half years and a President crippled or destroyed will serve in dreary futility through a prolonged feud with Congress and the public.

The vengeance - is - mine theme is understandable. The arrogance of the White House has been intolerable, notably on the side of the German Mafia — Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Company. This arrogance has prompted the long unhappy weeks of denial and evasion.

It added up in many instances to rank deceit.

SO NOW, Kissinger is saying, get the bloodletting over and let's get down to what this nation must do in the months ahead. Having known the principals at the top level, he has compassion for their personal tragedies.

As far as Watergate is concerned, the President's security adviser knew nothing of the involvement of the men around the President until the main outlines of the story began to break.

Everything turns on continuing confidence in the United States. If Brezhnev comes here in midsummer a foremost objective will be to achieve a breakthrough in the stalled negotiation in the second round of the SALT talks. wwithout intervention at the top, the talks in Geneva can go on, as did the session just ended, with wearying repetition of old and impossible positions from both sides of the conference table.

As for China, the elderly men in power look for stability and continuity from the United States. They want to see the relationship begun so fortuitously by the president carried on into an indefinite future.

JAMES RESTON in the New York Times compared the Kissinger speech to the address given by Secretary of State George C. Marshall at Harvard when he proposed the plan for rehabilitating Europe that was to bear his name. This may be overstating the case but it seems to one observer better to overstate it rather than treat a masterful presentation merely in turns of the current conflict here at home.

The Marshall Plan, when the United States proceeded to distribute 2.5 percent of our gross national income to restore war-wounded Europe, was America's finest hour. To achieve what Kissinger has proposed — hardly less than economic union with our trading partners — will, as he knows, be infinitely more difficult.

So much has happened to America's strength in the world since that finest hour.

as their alleged stock in trade; it's rather like suggesting that mathematicians could have a dispute over whether two plus two equals four.

But my pessimistic conclusion, based on batting averages over a five-year period, is that we need more players, not fewer, in the intelligence game.

Clothes make the man, but not wife's clothes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to this man for 32 years. We have four grown children, and let me tell you right off the bat, my husband has no feminine tendencies whatsoever. He is ALL man, but he likes to wear my lingerie.

First he asked if he could borrow my pantyhose. I could understand that because it was wintertime and pantyhose do help to keep the legs and body warm. Then he started wearing my nylon nighties, and it was still winter. That puzzled me.

Twice when I was hospitalized, I looked for my long, satin-quilted housecoat and found it in HIS clothes closet, so he has been wearing that, too.

Does he have a problem?

DON'T USE MY NAME

DEAR DON'T: Your husband may be a transvestite, which means he is just like any other male but he likes to wear women's clothes. And he won't have a problem unless you give him one at home, or he tries to masquerade in public where it is against the law.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married 52 years, but the last year, since my husband's 77th birthday, he has been acting funny. For one thing, he thinks every lady who looks at him is trying to vamp him. (Not only elderly widows, but young married women.)

He also has been giving things away. For instance, I looked high and low for the bottom of my double boiler, and then he told me he gave it away. Also, I made 22 quarts of matzo ball soup and put them in the freezer, and he has already given away 12 quarts.

He gives things to neighbors, friends, and strangers when I am out playing cards. Now I lock my jewelry when I leave the house. I don't know what he is going to give away next.

I can't divorce him because I think he is sick. Don't send me a personal reply because he sometimes throws away all the mail without even opening it.

I told my son (he is a lawyer) about his father's actions, and he said: "It's his age, Ma. You'll have to watch him."

Must I stay home 24 hours a day to watch him? I'm a nervous wreck wondering what he will do next.

HIS WIFE IN PHILADELPHIA

DELPHIA DEAR WIFE: Your husband is obviously not well. Yes, either you or someone else must watch him 24 hours a day; it's clear that he should not be left alone.

DEAR ABBY: I want to thank you for an idea I got from reading your column some time ago. It was to send flowers to my mother on my own birthday.

On my 18th birthday I sent my mom a dozen roses expressing my love and appreciation for putting up with me all these years. Dad said when she got the flowers she was so touched she broke right down and cried.

Please mention it again, Abby. Some of your readers might have missed it.

TRIED IT AND LIKED IT

DEAR TRIED: It's mentioned. Not to put down flower power, but a letter of "love and appreciation" to both parents anytime would be sufficient to move them to tears.

DEAR ABBY: While I was being examined by my doctor, he received a phone call which he said he would take in the next room.

He left the phone off the hook which enabled me to hear the entire conversation. It was of a very personal nature.

Should I have replaced the phone on the hook as soon as I realized what was happening?

HEARD EVERYTHING

IN STATEN ISLAND

DEAR HEARD: Not if it involved any inconvenience on your part. I hope you told the doctor you overheard the call so he won't be so careless in the future.

Ohio on short end of tax benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohioans paid $1.55 in federal taxes for each dollar of federal aid returned to the state in the 1972 fiscal year, according to Tax Foundation, Inc. The Buckeye State was second only to Connecticut, at $1.58, with the highest tax burden per $1 of aid received. The foundation said 21 states paid an aggregate of $4.2 billion more in federal taxes than the total of money they received and 29 states plus the District of Columbia got $4.2 billion more than they paid in taxes. Inuvik, N.W.T., a town of 3,000 near the mouth of the Mackenzie River, has three hotels.

Partly cloudy skies today with temperatures on the cool side is the prediction for most of Ohio by the National Weather Service.

The state will be under a strong north to northwest flow of cold air today resulting from an intense storm in Central New York and an elongated ridge of high pressure from Minnesota to East Texas.

The New York storm will move north into Quebec. The ridge will be very slow to come east however holding temperatures on the cold side.
During early Saturday morning skies began clearing over much of the state. Eastern sections of the state continued to have cloudy skies with scattered showers.

Temperatures were uniforming low and at dawn Cincinnati and Findlay were the coldest at 36 degrees. Youngstown was only a degree warmer despite its clouds and intermittent rain.
Rain has been rather light since midnight Friday but that was not the story Friday evening.

During Friday evening Cleveland had 0.28 inches of rain while Youngstown received 0.27 inches and Marietta 0.20 inches. Measureable amounts of rain were also received as far west as Cincinnati's Lunken Airport.

Alleged fraud brings tax suit

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — An Ashtabula family has filed a $4.73 million taxpayers suit against four persons, charging them with land fraud. The defendants include Fred Morr, former director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson investigated the alleged fraud, but was unable to get the attorney general's office to file charges, so the suit was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fisher.

The suit claims Morr, James Hallett, Hart B. Morrison and Theodore H. Case with conspiring to sell land to the state at inflated prices.

Hoosiers face some confusion over food tax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Learning what is "food for human consumption" for what isn't for Indiana's new sales tax "could potentially create a very unhappy situation" with the customers, a spokesman for Hoosier grocers say.

The sales tax doubles to 4 per cent on Tuesday. Grocery food such as meat, bread and milk will be exempt from the tax, but other products such as paper and candy will not.

"We are faced with a situation that will require us to separate the taxable from the nontaxable items in order to process them through our checkout stands," said Joe Lackey, executive secretary of the Central Indiana Council of Food Distributors, Inc.

He urged Hoosier shoppers to show "understanding and patience" as checkout clerks learn to wrestle with the sales tax exemption.

Terminal, land purchase clears court hurdle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Efforts by Columbus to purchase the Union Terminal and land surrounding it from the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad for a convention center cleared one hurdle Friday but still faces another.

A federal court judge in Philadelphia gave the railroad permission to go ahead with the multi-million-dollar transaction with the city. Approval was required because the court is overseeing the reorganization of Penn Central.

But a suit to block the city's purchase of the 27-acre site north of the downtown area still is unresolved in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

A May 11 hearing has been set on the suit, brought by Columbus attorney Joseph Waterman.

Phils' Steve Carlton stops Reds with tidy four-hitter

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — This past winter, when Danny Ozark was the surprise choice to manage the Philadelphia Phillies, he had a talk with his Cy Young Award-winning left-hander Steve Carlton.

Ozark expressed to the 28-year-old pitcher that he wasn't particularly fond of mustaches. Carlton wore a mustache, and although not ordered, he shaved it off.

With or without a mustache, Carlton was a formidable figure on the mound Friday night, hurling the Phils to a 3-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds with a four-hitter.

"He's someone to look up to," said Ozark after Carlton ran his record to 4-2. "He's done more for our young players than anyone else."

"He's a figurehead, a person by himself, but he's something else. He came to spring training with the same determination he had last year, maybe more. He'll never quit," Ozark said.

"He's helped me a whole lot," Ozark continued. "Like with the mustache. All I said was that I preferred he didn't wear one. He fully agreed with me. Anything I wanted from him, I got."

One thing Ozark wanted was victories and he has Carlton producing that wish.

Carlton is certain he can match last year's 27 win season.

"I did it last year, I can do it again," he said.

Reds manager Sparky Anderson, who watched Carlton beat Cincinnati for only the fourth time in 10 lifetime decisions, was in awe.

"He's one of the tops no matter how you rate them," Anderson said. Informed Carlton didn't think he had good stuff, Anderson merely laughed.

"He's looked awfully good from where I was sitting. I know I didn't want to have a bat."

The Phils handed young Cincinnati left-hander Ross Grimsley his first loss after three victories. Singles by Larry Bowa, Mike Anderson and Willie Montanez, combined with errors by Bobby Tolan and Denis Menke, produced two first inning runs while Bill Robinson's double and Mike Schmidt's single accounted for Philadelphia's final run. Cincinnati's only run came in the sixth when Dave Concepcion singled, took second on a wild pitch and moved up one base at a time on infield outs by Joe Morgan and Tolan.

The Reds and Phils meet again tonight with Cincinnati's Don Gullett, 3-1, and Philadelphia's Dick Ruthven, 0-0.

York Mets, baseball's latest hitless wonders, one bad pitch is usually one more than you can afford, so it was bad news when Tom Seaver doubled his limit Friday night.

They were consecutive pitches in the fourth inning after Seaver had retired the first 11 Atlanta Braves. Hank Aaron deposited the first one deep into the left field stands for his 678th career home run and Darrell Evans parked Seaver's next offering over the center field fence.

With Pat Dobson stifling the Mets on three hits, that was all the Braves needed for a 2-0 triumph.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco blanked St. Louis 5-0, Philadelphia downed Cincinnati 3-1, the Chicago Cubs swamped San Diego 10-2 and Houston nipped Montreal 6-5 in 10 innings. The Los Angeles-Pittsburgh game was rained out.

Aaron's home run was his fifth of a season which thus far has been homer or nothing. His only other hits are a double and a single and he's hitting only .146. But he's now 36 away from his run at Babe Ruth's record of 714 homers.

San Francisco's Jim Barr hurled a two-hitter and Tito Fuentes drove in three runs with a triple and sacrifice fly as the Giants shut out St. Louis and Bob Gibson for their fifth consecutive triumph and 17th in 22 games. The Giants opened a 3 1/2-game lead over Cincinnati in the NL West.

Philadelphia's Steve Carlton checked Cincinnati on four hits for his fourth victory. The Phillies quickly got Carlton all the runs he needed by jumping on Ross Grimsley for two in the first inning on singles by Larry Bowa, Mike Anderson and Willie Montanez and an error.

Jose Cardenal drove in four runs with a double and single as Chicago whipped San Diego. Two-run doubles by Cardenal and Rick Monday paced a six-run explosion in the second inning. Milt Pappas became the Cubs' ninth one-game winner.

Houston rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to tie Montreal and edged the Expos in the 10th on pinch hitter Jimmy Stewart's first hit of the season, a single that scored Jim Wynn.

Celtics find deadlock

NEW YORK (AP) — Momentum. Does Boston have that edge now over the New York Knicks? "I'm not going to say anything about it," the Celtics' Jo Jo White said, grinning. "But we got them in Boston last time—and we got 'em back there again."

"Don't ask me about Los Angeles," Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn sighed. "We can't afford to think about that. All we can think about is Sunday."

That's what the Knicks have to think about too. Two games ago, they seemed to have the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference finals neatly wrapped up. They led the Celtics 3-1 in the best-of-seven series, and Boston's captain and scoring leader, John Havlicek, could barely raise his right arm because of torn shoulder muscles.

It looked like a cinch that the Knicks would finish off the Celtics and advance to the finals for a rematch of last year's championship series, when the Los Angeles Lakers swept the title in five games.

Now it's a dogfight again. On Wednesday night in Boston, the Celtics watched a big lead shrivel and die, then scrambled for a 98-97 victory. And

Pistol matches slated Sunday

The first of what is to become a monthly series of pistol matches will be held by the Fayette County Fish and Game Association from 10 a.m. until dark Sunday at the Stafford Road range.

The purpose of the matches is to promote interest in sport handgun shooting, and all pistol shooters, novice and expert alike, are invited to attend, according to chairman Phil French.

French said five shooters will compete in each individual match. There will be a $1 entry fee and cash prizes will be awarded to the top three shooters in each match.

"This is the greatest thrill in my life," he added, somehow sounding less excited than his fellow Royals, who were yelling with joy at his effort. It was the first no-hitter in Kansas City's 18 years of major league baseball, including 13 years the Oakland Athletics franchise was in K.C.

Busby had combined with a three-inning relief job by Doug Bird to pitch a no-hit exhibition game against Detroit in Florida this year. Busby later no-hit St. Louis for seven innings and earned the starting nod in the Royals' opening game.

He lost 3-2, then beat Chicago 12-5 and was clobbered by the White Sox 16-2. His earned-run average entering the Tiger game was 8.04. He had given up 26 hits and 14 earned runs in 15 2-3 innings.

"He skipped his last turn," McKeon said. "People were saying I lost faith in the guy. But he just had a stiff shoulder."

Busby got behind many batters, yet got the right pitches when he needed them.

all the rest sliders."

In the other American League games, the Texas Rangers defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2, the Cleveland Indians downed the California Angels 6-2 and the Oakland A's nipped the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 in 12 innings. Two games were rained out—Minnesota at New York and Chicago at Boston.

The no-hitter was the first ever pitched by a Kansas City player and the first in the American League since Oakland's Vida Blue pitched one against the Minnesota Twins on Sept. 21, 1970.

Dick Bosman and Steve Foucault scattered nine hits and Jeff Burroughs drilled a two-run single as the Rangers defeated the Brewers.

Burroughs' hit in the third inning gave the Rangers a 3-0 lead and

Post 25 tryouts scheduled Sunday

Tryouts for the 1973 Washington C. H. American Legion Post 25 baseball team are scheduled to be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Washington Senior High School diamond.

Dennis Morris, the new Post 25 head coach, said all boys interested in playing this summer must attend Sunday's tryout session.

Other tryouts are scheduled May 6 and May 13 at the WSHS diamond.

Pro tennis team possible in Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Professional tennis may join pro hockey and basketball in Cincinnati next year, The Cincinnati Enquirer reported today.

William O. DeWitt Jr., vice president of the Cincinnati Hockey Club Corp., which is negotiating with the city for construction of a hockey arena on the riverfront, attended a series of meetings Friday conducted by founders of the World Team Tennis League in Miami, Fla.

Royals pilot unsurprised by pitching performance

DETROIT (AP) — Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon figured it was inevitable that Steve Busby would pitch a no-hitter.

He told him so last year, when the young right-hander was pitching for him at Omaha, the Royals' Triple-A farm club.

"He was pitching a no-hitter against Tulsa," related McKeon. "Then he gave up a single in the ninth inning. I went out there and told him, 'Don't worry about it. You'll pitch a no-hitter in the big leagues.'"

"He'll pitch a couple more, too," the first-year Royals field boss added, after the 23-year-old rookie pitched a 3-0 no-hit victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night.

Busby walked six and struck out four in becoming the first American League hurler to pitch a no-hitter since Oakland's Vida Blue against Minnesota Sept. 21, 1970.

"I'm just flabbergasted. I don't know what to say," the 6-foot-2, 205-pounder from Fullerton, Calif., said between "thank you's" to the hoard of teammates who flocked to him offering

KC's Busby no-hits Tigers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steve Busby is a no-no for the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers couldn't get a hit off the Kansas City rookie in spring training—and continued that frustrating inefficiency in the regular season Friday night.

The 3-0 no-hitter, first in the American League since 1970, was called the "greatest thrill of my life" by the 23-year-old right-hander. He used a different strategy than in spring training, when he and Doug Bird combined for a no-hitter against Detroit. "Down there at Fort Myers, Fla., I tried to hit spots," explained the blond Busby, a onetime University of Southern California student. "Tonight I threw 75 per cent fastballs and nearly

Bengals set 1973 schedule

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Bengals will open their 1973 regular season home schedule against the Houston Oilers at 1 p.m., Sunday, September 23 at Riverfront Stadium.

The Bengals' first regular season game will be played on the road against the Denver Broncos on Sunday, September 16 at Mile High Stadium in Denver.

In addition to Houston, the Bengals will host Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, the New York Jets, St. Louis and Minnesota at Riverfront during 1973. St. Louis and Minnesota will be making their first regular season appearances in Cincinnati.

THE ROAD portion of the schedule sends the Bengals to Denver, San Diego, Dallas, Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Houston.

"This is the toughest schedule we've been confronted with in our short history," said Paul E. Brown, general manager-head coach of the Bengals. "Besides our regular AFC Central Division (Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Houston) we're getting Kansas City, Minnesota, Dallas and the Jets, all teams that have played in a Super Bowl."

"I'm happy the schedule gives our fans the opportunity to see two teams that have never been here before in the regular season — Minnesota and St. Louis," Brown added.

"Then, of course, it's always nice from a fan's standpoint for Joe Namath and the Jets to come to town," said Brown.

Following the trip to Denver and the home opener with Houston, the Bengals will travel to San Diego on September 30 for a battle with the Chargers.

The Bengals then return home to Riverfront for three consecutive games. The first two will be key AFC Central Division clashes. The Cleveland Browns come to Cincinnati on October 7 and will be followed by the Pittsburgh Steelers, defending AFC Central champs, on October 14. The Kansas City Chiefs will wind up the Bengals' three-game homestand on October 21.

Cincinnati then goes on the road the next three weeks, meeting Pittsburgh, October 28, Dallas, November 4 and Buffalo, November 11.

THE BENGALS return to Cincinnati for three straight games starting on November 18 with the New York Jets. On November 25, the St. Louis Cardinals are here and then come the Minnesota Vikings on December 2 for the final home game of the season.

Cincinnati winds up its season on the road against two AFC Central Division opponents. The Bengals will be in Cleveland on December 9 and Houston on December 16.

"It's a very rugged schedule for us, but that's the nature of the game," said Brown. "The fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth games will provide us with a real challenge. During that period we get Pittsburgh twice, Cleveland, Kansas City and Dallas."

All Bengal home games during the regular season will begin at 1 p.m., except the one with Kansas City which will get underway at 4 p.m.

Bob Dickson saves lead in Nelson

DALLAS (AP) — Bob Dickson got into trouble Friday in the second round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic, but saved par in a situation that would have shaken him two years ago.

Dickson shot a four-under-par 66 to take a one-stroke edge at the 36-hole mark over Don Bies of Seattle, the first round leader.

The big test for Dickson, who made birdie putts of 8, 10, 12 and 3 feet, came at the 553-yard par five 15th hole when he dunked his second shot in a lake. His fourth short sailed over the green but he saved par with a 40-foot putt from the fringe.

"I've been playing with confidence since I won at San Diego," Dickson said. "That was a good save I made. I've been in this position before and blown the whole round. Now, I just play it low key and get my par."

Dickson, who was the first man since Bobby Jones to capture the American and British amateur titles in one year, won his first professional tournament as a rookie—the Haig Open in 1968.

He has struggled until this year when he took the San Diego Open.

Don't brood over circumstances beyond your control, and do learn to accept changes. They could be for the better, you know.

SCORPIO

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Don't take others — or yourself — too seriously. A bit of fun and frivolity will do wonders for your morale.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A time for definitely clarifying your objectives. Get in touch with those who share your interests and, between you, work out a clear and concise program of action.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You may have to make some concessions in a family matter, but the end results will be well worthwhile. Expect some good news in the p.m.

YOU BORN TODAY, highly sensitive and imaginative, have an especial affinity for the arts; are a true humanitarian, and would make an excellent historian or educator. You make the most of modern devices and your thinking is truly progressive. You have a great love of beauty, both as applied to nature and the arts, and are extremely discriminating in your tastes. A wholesome outlook on life and optimism in the face of obstacles are also notable traits. Fields in which you could excel: Writing, journalism, medicine, diplomacy, music and painting. In fact, you add a modicum of art and beauty to anything you undertake.

MONDAY, APRIL 30

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Some awkward situations can be worked on successfully; an opponent made an ally. Adroit thinking is the answer — plus a shrewd bit of diplomacy.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Use care in handling both job and family affairs. Don't take success for granted. It must be earned — all the way.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Some trends changing. Synchronize your activities to accommodate. Curb a tendency to become overly emotional in a relatively unimportant situation.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You may be faced with some intensified pressure in job areas. Don't be dismayed. You can handle all ably. As with Gemini, however, don't battle over trivia.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Your tenacity and driving power can help you to win big gains now. In your upward climb, however, be careful not to ride roughshod over others.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Fine Mercury influences now stimulate your mental agility and keen perception. Take the reins firmly in hand and drive straight and sure — to success.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Don't be overly concerned about the behavior of associates. Make suggestions where you think them appropriate, but only IF they will aid and IF the time is ripe.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You will do yourself a big favor if you do not overtax yourself, and your sixth sense should tell you whether you ARE overdoing things or not. Curb spending.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Certain complexities need unravelling, and YOU can right them. A good day for handling tricky situations, mediating disputes.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Stellar influences indicate some indecisiveness. Counter by urging yourself into positive action. Handle each situation as it presents itself, evaluate each on its OWN merits.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

It is within your realm to elbow some competition deftly out of position now. But don't sit back when you have the advantage. Keep thinking, maneuvering to REMAIN ahead.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You could make a profitable financial deal but, even if asked, keep the details to yourself. Some would gladly try to take advantage of your good fortune.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great artistry, a fine mind and a willingness to work hard to reach your goals. You are a person of high ideas, with built-in magnetism and a strong feeling for tradition. However, you incline toward stubbornness and your extremist attitudes often lead others to find you dogmatic. Try to curb these traits since they alienate others unnecessarily. You can achieve notable success as an artist, interior decorator, designer, singer, lecturer, musician or horticulturist.

Education meet studies proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Teachers, parents and state officials were to meet here today to review 50 education proposals before submitting a list of recommendations to the General Assembly.

The meeting culminates a series of seminars on the future of Ohio public education held in 600 school districts and 88 counties during the past year.

A "consensus report" to be written at the conference would answer a mandate by the last General Assembly to explore new educational philosophies and teaching methods.

Top priority at the conference was expected to be teacher qualifications, especially in the areas of special education, industrial arts, science and mathematics.

Several of the 52 Ohio colleges offering education degrees were on the verge of disaccreditation in these

Brown shies from memo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown stepped away Friday from association with a memo from his communications officer John A. Ledingham Jr., instructing section chiefs in the attorney general's office on how to deal with newsmen.

The memo, circulated last month, said calls from the news media should be answered with the message from a secretary that "you are in conference" but will return the call as quickly as possible if the newsmen will tell the secretary what the matter regards.

It went on to say the person called should then contact Ledingham's office and when it could be ascertained what was "going on," he would "feed information back to you so that you may return the call or at least be advised as to a plan of action."

The memo also advised that secretaries were never to say that all calls from the news media "have to go through Mr. Ledingham."

Saying he thought the memo "poorly worded," Brown suggested that Ledingham, who is his liaison with the news media, "was attempting only to expedite information from the attorney general's staff." Brown added the memorandum "was not the policy of the office."

Technical school issue to receive county board study

The Fayette County Board of Education will consider requesting that a technical school be established at the Laurel Oaks Career Development Center when it meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Staunton Elementary School.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said the board will cooperate with boards of education in Clinton and Highland counties in making the formal request to the Ohio Board of Regents.

Board members are also expected to hear a request from the Ohio Association of Public School Employees group of the Miami Trace School District for the right to represent and negotiate for non-certified employees with the board of education.

The group studying school building needs in the Miami Trace District will present a report. Foster said the group recently toured the Big Walnut School District at Sunbury.

Requests for the clerk and assistants to attend the Ohio Clerk - Treasurers clinic June 18 at Columbus, and Gilbert Jones to attend the annual OAPSE conference May 16-18 also will be considered.

Opening lead - king of hearts.
Some of the declarer's most effective plays are extremely simple in nature. Accomplishing his aim does not necessarily require declarer to indulge in complicated strategy or exotic play. Simplest is often best.
Consider this deal where South went wrong. West led the king of hearts, followed by the ace. Declarer ruffed, played a trump to the queen and another trump back to the ace.

With West showing out, South was in trouble. Recognizing that he could not afford to draw East's remaining trumps - for in that case he would find himself denuded of trumps and at West's mercy - South led the king of diamonds.

Had West taken the King, South would have had a smooth ride home. But West, sensing declarer's problem at this point, played low on the king as East followed suit with the eight to show a doubleton.

South was now a totally deceased pigeon. He did as well as he could when he led another diamond, but West rose with the ace, returned a diamond which East ruffed, and South finished down one.

Declarer could have avoided this outcome by a relatively simple maneuver. Instead of ruffing the ace of hearts at trick two, he should have discarded a club. The club was a loser in any case, and South should willingly have conceded it at the start of the hand rather than weaken his trump position by ruffing the second heart lead.

Declarer could not be certain that a club discard at trick two would make the contract, but it offered the best chance of eventually garnering ten tricks. The play was almost sure to prove effective. Moreover, it had in its favor the virtue of simplicity.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Emphysema Linked to Obesity

Emphysema is a severe, and often catastrophic, lung condition. It is pathetic that such a disease occurs so frequently when some of its preventable causes are well known.

Cigarette smoking is one of the most important culprits.

Now, a group of French scientists have reported a very definite link between emphysema and obesity.

Dr. J. Ginet, and his co-workers at the University of Nantes, have studied a group of patients whose weight ranged from 200 pounds to 300 pounds. They found that the vital capacity of the lungs, and the respiratory movements of the lungs are diminished when there is excess weight.

Unfortunately, not all the causes of emphysema are as clearly demarcated as tobacco and obesity. Certainly these two should be eliminated to avoid the disaster of progressive emphysema.

The successful attack on Parkinson's disease with Lodopa and surgery is a testimonial to the support of scientific research. Only in this way can this and other diseases be relentlessly studied for the purpose of ultimate control.

Now, from the Tulane University School of Medicine and the Clinical Research Institute of Montreal, are reports that a special hormone has been found and used effectively for the control of some types of Parkinsonism.

Dr. Abba J. Kastin and Dr. Andre

Barbeau are using the hormone in an effort to treat aspects of the condition that are not responding to L-dopa.

Many complex problems revolve about this hormone whose exact function must yet be clarified. When this occurs it should be another force in the treatment of this condition.

Pacemakers implanted in the body have, during the past decade, controlled the regular rhythmic beats of the heart in patients with cardiac irregularity.

This life-saving device is now universally used.

One of its disadvantages is that the battery now in use may last only from two to three years. Then there is a need for replacement. Although the surgical risk is not great, it is, of course, preferable if the pacemaker lasted longer.

Two French doctors, working at the Hospital Broussais in Paris, are using pacemakers that are powered with plutonium-238 to prolong the use of the pacemaker without frequent replacement.

Dr. Paul Laurens and Dr. Armand Pivnicka believe that the newly powered atomic pacemakers can survive for more than ten years without replacement.

This is indeed an important additional contribution.

Jail father charged with cutting son, 17

A Bloomingburg man who allegedly stabbed his son during a fight at their home Thursday night was arrested by sheriff's deputies Friday on a charge of cutting to wound.

Oval McCallister, 54, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, is lodged in the county jail under $500 bond. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said McCallister was apprehended by the Madison County Sheriff's Department Friday and returned to the local jail.

He is charged with stabbing his son, Jimmy McCallister, 17, in the left chest while the two were engaged in a fight in their Myers Road home.

The younger McCallister was treated at Memorial Hospital and released.

BOND has been set at $1,000 each for two Jamestown men charged with possession of marijuana.

Sheriff's deputies said the two were charged after small amounts of the drug were found on their possession during a routine traffic arrest on Ohio 729 near Milledgeville.

The charges were filed against John A. Reed, 23, and Estle R. Reed, 18. Both are still incarcerated in the county jail and will appear in Municipal Court Monday.

A CAR reportedly stolen from a Forest Street parking space early Saturday was recovered by police a short time later a block away from the theft scene.

Officers said Stephen Campbell of 719 Harrison St., reported the 1970 model car stolen just after 3 a.m. He told police the car had been parked on Forest Street.

Officers investigated the theft and found the car parked a block away.

Lowell Rudd, of 720 Clinton Ave., reported someone sprayed paint on the inside of his garage door and killed three pigeons kept in the garage. The incident occurred Thursday night.

Driver held after crash

Police arrested Kenneth L. Groves, 34, Rt. 1, on a drunken driving charge after his car involved in an accident on Temple Street, just east of North Street, at 6:20 p.m. Friday.

Officers investigating the accident said Groves was eastbound on Temple and collided with the rear of a car driven by Jacqueline K. Burchfield, 18, of Hamilton. There was minor damage to the rear of the Burchfield car.

Groves was also cited for failing to maintain assured clear distance.

Police investigated another minor two-car mishap on Market Street in front of the Post Office Friday afternoon.

Officers said a car driven by Harley F. Mann, 54, Rt. 3, backed from a parking space and struck an eastbound car driven by Martha G. Meriweather, 69, of 239 Oakland Ave.

There was minor damage in the 2:44 p.m. crash.

Aging conference scheduled Monday

Although it is now too late for reservation for lunch, anyone interested in the District Conference on Aging at Circleville Monday will be welcome to attend the meetings in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House, Mrs. Gladys Kirk, of the Extension Service staff here, said Saturday. The conference will open at 9:30 a.m. and continue to 3 p.m.

Mrs. Kirk expressed the hope that a large delegation will attend from here "to let other communities know that Fayette Countians care about the older citizens."

The theme of the district conference (Fayette, Fairfield and Pickaway counties) is "Local Responsibilities and Resources." The workshops will be repeated so two may be attended.

Among the things to be taken up are mobile meals, housing, center programs, transportation, Social Security, mental health, volunteer service and consumer protection.

READY MONDAY — The newest addition to the Fayette Center is this office building which will house Western-Southern Life Insurance Co., the Ohio Employment Service, and the office of Dr. Kwok-kuen Wong, a physician.

Fayette Center Building ready for first tenant

The Fayette Center Office Building, adjoining the Fayette County Bank off Elm Street, has been under construction since last fall and will be ready to receive its first tenant Monday.

The complex will house three offices in all, the other two being scheduled for opening on or before the first of July.

The Western - Southern Life Insurance Co. will be moving from its present office at 105½ N. Main St., (above the First National Bank) over the weekend and should be operating in its new quarters Monday afternoon. The new building offers them a ground floor setting with adequate parking for patrons.

Dr. Kwok-kuen Wong, who specializes in obstetrics and gynecology, will begin practice in the office at 5 Fayette Center on July 1, but he hopes to have a receptionist available by June 15 to accept appointments and arrange files.

The remaining office has been leased to the Ohio Employment Service, beginning the first of July. The new location will have 50 per cent more space than its present office on Court Street, and an adequate parking area. The moving of the bureau is expected to cause no disruption of services.

Audience praises performance of 'Guys and Dolls'

An enthusiastic audience of around 1,000, which saw the opening night performance of "Guys and Dolls" by a cast of Miami Trace High School students Friday, came away describing the musical comedy of the era between prohibition and World War II in superlatives.

The production will be presented again Saturday night in the MTHS auditorium by the cast of more than 70 boys and girls, who turned back the clock to the days of gangsters and night clubs.

Outstanding performances were given by Vicki Lowe, Bob Ford, Dawn Schlichter, Greg Detty and Alan Marshall. Most of the comedy was carried by Keith Early and Scott Crissinger, who did an outstanding job.

Other major roles were taken by Kathy Woodfork, Paula Alkire, John Eltzroth, Doug Joseph, Brian Streitenberger, Dave Phillips, Lisa Louis, Eric Kriger, Steve Deere and Chuck Drake.

Among the hits of the show were the separate chorus lines of 12 dancing girls and 30 boys. The girls performed in "The Hot Box" night club and the boys "did their thing" in a sewer setting where they were holding a crap game. Miss Kristi Cross, a MTHS graduate, now a student at Ohio State, was the choreographer.

The stage setting, with 50,000 watts of lighting, added much to the production. The orchestra, composed of MTHS students and several from Ohio State was directed by Dennis Avey, an MTHS graduate now enrolled at Ohio State.

Mrs. Cinda Stinson was the director, Vernon Stanforth the student director and Donald Riber, the technical adviser.

TROY, Ohio—The Hobart Manufacturing Co. reports new first-quarter records for both sales and net income, posting sizable increases over the first quarter of 1972 (Which period was adversely affected by production stoppages at several of the company's U.S. plants) and over the first quarter of 1971 when the previous records were established.

Sales totaled $75,274,000 in the first quarter of 1973, an increase of $22,045,000 or 41 per cent over 1972, and $20,259,000 or 37 per cent over 1971.

Net income was $5,242,000 or 46 cents per share in the first quarter of 1973, an increase of $2,616,000 or 23 cents per share over 1972 and $1,947,000 or 17 cents per share over 1971.

Dear friends,

A growing number of people are dying away from what they call home. Many are in new retirement communities. Others have taken jobs in another city - sometimes their parents follow them. There are those who will die while traveling. When death does occur, it is wise to phone your local funeral director to arrange for the return of the deceased for burial.

Flood losses mount

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer
Ten million acres of America's heartland from Wisconsin to Mississippi remained covered by floodwaters today as the swollen rivers of the Mississippi basin forced hundreds more from their homes.

President Nixon designated four additional states as disaster areas, paving the way for quick federal aid and cheap federal loans for the repair of damage to public and private facilities.

Agricultural and property damages mounted into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

In Arkansas and Mississippi, officials predicted that, if the large lakes standing where cotton should be sprouting dry in time, cotton farmers could plant a soybean crop in a month or so.

Upstream, the Mississippi River continued to swell, smashing a levee to bury a 9,600-acre island south of St. Louis. North of that city, sandbag levees were thrown up to keep the Missouri River from cutting a new channel and linking with the Mississippi 15 miles north of their present confluence.

As the President flew over the southern reaches of the floodwaters on Friday, damage estimates climbed above $200 million; and Arkansas, Louisiana, Ohio and Wisconsin joined Missouri, Illinois and Mississippi as declared disaster areas.

"I can assure all the people who live in the stricken areas that full federal assistance will be provided as long as needed," Nixon said in an address at Meridian, Miss., where he helped dedicate a naval training center named for Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

Stennis told Nixon "the time is about gone" when farmers in flood-inundated areas could plant cotton.

Throughout the Mississippi basin, the floodwaters had impact:

—Two million acres of flat delta land in Mississippi and Louisiana were under water, and some homes in those areas were reported smashed as strong winds from the Gulf of Mexico whipped waves against them.

—The Mississippi and Missouri rivers poured over 7,000 more acres of land north of St. Louis. A 60-square-mile peninsula was threatened if sandbag levees built around culverts on Highway 94 failed to keep the rivers from joining 15 miles above their normal linkup. One county—St. Charles—was reported 40 per cent submerged, with 5,000 of its people homeless.

—Low areas along Ohio's Lake Erie shoreline at Port Clinton prepared today for possible flooding as strong winds sent 10-foot waves cascading toward beaches.

—The 75 to 100 families remaining in Holly Bluff, Miss., were advised by Civil Defense authorities to evacuate before rising backwaters of the Yazoo River completely inundate them.

The worst, in terms of the expanding floodwaters, is yet to come.

At St. Louis, the Mississippi is expected to crest Sunday at 43.5 feet, more than 13 feet above flood stage.

The river was at 43 feet today and was pouring past the city at a rate of 900,000 cubic feet of water per second, according to the Army Corps of Engineers. The normal rate is 50,000 cubic feet per second, the Corps said.

If the Mississippi reaches its expected crest on Sunday, the Corps predicts damage in Missouri and Illinois alone will reach $150 million.

Downstream from St. Louis, the battle of Kaskaskia Island was lost Friday. The Mississippi smashed a 50-foot hole in a levee, putting the 9,600-acre land mass under about 16 feet of water. The island's 3,000 residents were evacuated a week ago.

In Louisiana, where an estimated 3,000 families are homeless, the small town of Vick was evacuated Friday.

Gray out, Ruckelshaus takes over FBI

Nixon in seclusion; shakeup starts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was alone in the seclusion of his mountaintop retreat today, apparently to chart a course through the grave problems the Watergate revelations are bringing his administration.

He made the short-notice flight to Camp David, Md., late Friday a few hours after naming a temporary successor to L. Patrick Gray III, who resigned under fire as head of the FBI.

His embattled aides, domestic adviser John Ehrlichman and chief of staff H. R. Haldeman-frequent companions remained behind amidst reports they are fighting for their jobs.

In a freakish turn, the Watergate case threatened to disrupt the Pentagon Papers' trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo in Los Angeles, with the disclosure by the Justice Department that it had received a report that two Watergate conspirators burglarized the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist for his files.

The appointment of William J. Ruckelshaus to serve as acting head of the FBI until a permanent successor can be found climaxed a day that saw these developments in the Watergate affair.

—Gray, the acting FBI director who had already withdrawn his nomination for permanent chief, quit "to preserve in both image and fact the reputation, the integrity and the effectiveness of the FBI." The resignation followed disclosure that he destroyed documents from the safe of convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt.

—Ehrlichman admitted being present when the documents were handed to Gray, but denied he ordered their destruction.

—Ehrlichman also acknowledged that he met with representatives of financier Robert L. Vesco, who contributed $200,000 to the Nixon re-election campaign. But he said he took steps to keep Vesco associates from claiming White House support for a Lebanese bank deal.

—The secretary of commerce accepted "with regrets" the sudden resignation of Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy director of the Nixon campaign, who has become a central character in the Watergate probe.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman were along on the President's publicized trip Friday with Sen. John C. Stennis over the flood area in west Mississippi. Reporters asked to meet with them but they refused.

For the weekend the President was without his advisors in the Catoctin Mountains, a favorite retreat in times of crisis. He canceled a scheduled Saturday meeting with his economic advisers.

The New York Times reported today that White House counsel John Dean III has told federal prosecutors he will not testify on alleged wrongdoing by Haldeman and Ehrlichman without being granted immunity from further prosecution.

The prosecutors and Dean were not reached for comment.

The Times, quoting associates, also said that Ehrlichman and Haldeman's battle to retain their positions has delayed the President's decision on what steps to take.

In a broadcast interview in Topeka, Kan., Sen. Robert F. Dole said the two aides should resign because of the embarrassment for the President and his administration. The former Republican National Committee chairman was one of many GOP congressmen clamoring for a quick resolution of the widening scandal.

In announcing his resignation, Gray called attention to "serious allegations concerning certain acts of my own during the ongoing Watergate investigation (that) are now a matter of public record."

Earlier, his homestate senator and friend, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., said Gray told him he destroyed two files given him by Dean and Ehrlichman, without knowing their contents.

Weicker said Gray was told by the men the files "should never see the light of day."

Ehrlichman confirmed the materials were from the White House safe of Hunt, opened after he became implicated in the burglary of Democratic party headquarters in Watergate last June 17, but denied asking their destruction.

Hunt, a CIA agent for 21 years, was given an office in the White House when he was hired as a consultant to work, among other things, on the leak of the Pentagon Papers. G. Gordon Liddy, also convicted in the Watergate conspiracy, worked with him on some projects.

Their names surfaced in the Ellsberg-Russo trial out of the jury's hearing, when U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne read a memorandum from Watergate prosecutor Earl J. Silbert saying he had "received information that at a date unspecified Gordon Liddy and Howard Hunt burglarized the office of a psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg to obtain psychiatrist's files relating to Ellsberg."

The General Accounting office Friday referred $13,000 in alleged new campaign finance violations by President Nixon's re-election committee to the Justice Department.

Daylight Time

to halt drinking

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio reverts to Daylight Savings Time early Sunday when clocks must be turned ahead one hour.

The state will go back to Eastern Standard Time Oct. 28.

Principal immediate affect of the time change falls on proprietors of bars and night clubs. State Liquor Director Richard E. Guggenheim has reminded liquor permit holders that when the clock strikes 2 a.m. Sunday, it will, in fact, be 3 a.m., 30 minutes past the legal closing time for permit holders entitled to be open until 2:30 a.m.

Therefore, he said, all sales of liquor must cease at 2 a.m., when the clocks should be advanced an hour.

Scandal proves fatal for Gray

WASHINGTON (AP) — L. Patrick Gray III, who resigned Friday as acting head of the FBI, was an early victim of the Watergate case.

His nomination to be permanent FBI chief was withdrawn at his request several weeks ago when Senate confirmation became unlikely because of criticism of the way he had handled the Watergate investigation.

Friday he resigned as acting FBI head after it was revealed that he had destroyed documents from the safe of E. Howard Hunt, a former White House aide convicted of conspiracy in the Watergate bugging.

A White House statement issued shortly after Gray's resignation announcement suggested President Nixon ousted him. He had been acting director for 11 months.

Opposition to his permanent appointment began mounting after his acknowledgement on Feb. 28 that he had given reports of the Watergate investigation to White House counsel John Dean.

Gray said he had supplied Dean with 82 of 186 FBI investigative reports in the case. He did so, he said, at the request of Dean, who was conducting a separate White House inquiry into the bugging.

Gray annoyed the Nixon administration during his confirmation hearings by supplying a summary of the FBI's investigation which said attorneys for the Committee for the Re-Election of the President had hampered FBI efforts to question campaign officials.

And the administration countermanned Gray's offer to let members of the Senate inspect FBI reports on the Watergate investigation. At a news conference on March 15, Nixon expressed annoyance that Gray had given "raw files" of an FBI interview with the President's personal attorney, Herbert W. Kalmbach.

Actually, Gray had given the committee a written addition to previous testimony, not the FBI files themselves.

Perhaps the most distressing moment for the administration during Gray's hearing came when Gray acknowledged Dean had "probably lied" in telling FBI investigators he didn't know whether Hunt had an office at the White House.

The White House called that reference to Dean "reprehensible, unfortunate, unfair and incorrect." On March 20, Gray told the senators he was under new orders from Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst not to discuss the Watergate affair at his confirmation hearings.

Waves of U.S. B52 bombers hit targets Friday night and early today

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — American warplanes and Cambodian gunboats have pounded Communist positions on the east bank of the Mekong River across from Phnom Penh, providing cover for two battalions of government reinforcements sent to rout the enemy.

Waves of U.S. B52 bombers hit targets Friday night and early today less than two miles from where the government troops landed between Prek Luong and Prek Bang Kang. The noise of the bombs and artillery shells rattled windows and doors in the capital but caused little concern among the residents.

The military command said the government troops were conducting a counter-offensive to retake the district town of O Chambat, less than two miles from the besieged provincial capital of Takeo. The command said the enemy suffered "heavy losses" while government troops had one man killed and 17 wounded.

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — The siege of Wounded Knee has claimed its second life in three days.

Lawrence LaMont, 31, a Pine Ridge Reservation resident, was killed Friday in a gun battle between federal officers and American Indian Movement (AIM) forces that lasted for several hours.

Interior Department spokesman Thomas Oxendine said LaMont was a member of AIM forces firing on federal positions.

A cease-fire was called while LaMont's body was removed, and Oxendine said things had been quiet on the perimeter since AIM asked for the cease-fire.

AIM also claimed one of its members was wounded in the heavy exchange of gunfire, but Oxendine, director of communications for the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA), said the government has been unable to confirm that report.

LaMont was an enrolled member of the Oglala Sioux Tribe and a brother-in-law of tribal secretary Lloyd "Toby" Eagle Bull.

LaMont's body was taken to a hospital in nearby Pine Ridge Friday night. Oxendine said AIM had requested that an ambulance be sent to the village.

LaMont was the second AIM supporter to be killed in gun battles with federal officers since militant Indians led by AIM occupied Wounded Knee on Feb. 27. Frank Clearwater, wounded April 17, died Wednesday in a Rapid City hospital.

Political pot boils; two candidates file

The deadline for filing petitions as candidates for City Council and township trustee positions is more than three months away, but already there is activity among prospective candidates. Two persons already have filed their petition as candidates; one each for Council and township trustee.

At least two other persons are reported to be circulating petitions in an attempt to gain one of the four City Council seats which will be open Jan. 1. The terms of Council Chairman Billie Wilson and Councilmen Hugh Patton and Ralph Cook will expire Dec. 31.

The position previously held by J.M. (Mike) Arnold will also be open. Arnold, whose term would have expired Dec. 31, resigned in February. No one has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

FRED ROST, 922 Briar Ave., is the first person to file as a candidate for Council. He is employed as warehouse inventory clerk for Landmark, the Fayette County Farm Bureau Cooperative.

Rost was executive secretary of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce from 1947-49, and was clerk-treasurer of the city school board from 1949-59. In 1959 he was appointed as a state examiner of state departments and state institutions, and served in that capacity until 1963 when he was named manager of a three-county district of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Service.

He has served 25 years as a Red Cross board member, is a past president of the Rotary Club, has served 12 years as a trustee of the First Presbyterian Church, and in 1967 was awarded the Citizen's Community Service Plaque by the Chamber of Commerce.

AMONG THOSE currently circulating nominating petitions is incumbent Councilman Patton.

The first, and only person to file petitions so far as a candidate for Township Trustee is Ronald J. Campbell, 2961 Route 41 NW, who is seeking a position in Union Township.

The deadline for filing is Aug. 8.

Rain continues to delay early planting of corn

By JOHN GRUBER
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Water, Water everywhere — and not a tractor in the field! This week's weather and crop bulletin from the Ohio Crop Reporting Service continues to tell the same story. Wet weather and limited field work. Some farmers in the northeastern part of the state are fortunate to have had a couple of days in the field recently.

I talked with a chemical salesman this week who covers the northern part of Ohio. He says there are a few scattered fields of corn planted.

What we need most is sunshine and wind to dry out these fields. At the time this column was prepared on Thursday morning the sun was trying to shine through an overcast sky and there was a good breeze blowing. Maybe — well, I'm usually wrong so I won't try to predict what's going to happen the next week or so.

RESEARCH OF RECENT years show that it's important to get corn planted early (weather permitting of course) and that the same principles apply to soybean planting.

When fields dry out and you can finally get in to plant corn there are some steps that can be taken to reduce the time for seed bed preparation.

Al Baxter, Area Extension Agronomist, suggests using a disc harrow or field cultivator to prepare unplowed stalk fields. Such a no-plow method may reduce yield but if plowing will cause much of a delay in planting then the earlier planting as a result of no-plow may offset the yield reduction.

Baxter cautions that if you use such a system you must be able to control weeds and grasses. You must also be able to get adequate plant population. Thus, planting depth and seed soil contact are also important.

Several farmers with no-till planters have commented that they may increase acreage of no-tillage and minimum tillage. One farmer has commented that where they have done an even job of plowing he may use a no-till planter and not work the plowed ground before planting.

For fellows using this approach you want to take extra steps for weed control. Especially where you have much of a problem with fall panicum. It may already have a good start and you will need to knock it back with a recommended herbicide.

CEREAL LEAF BEETLE populations over most of the state were very much reduced in 1972 compared with populations of the previous year. But this doesn't mean the populations will continue to remain low.

The cereal leaf beetle is the only insect most likely to cause large losses in small grains and particularly in oats. Areas where damage will occur cannot be predicted accurately but the eastern half of Fayette County is within the area that is most likely to incur damage in 1973.

Check oat fields soon after plant emergence for adult damage and periodically throughout the growing season for larval damage. Yield losses for wheat may not be as great as for oats. However, you need to check wheat the same as oats. Insecticide treatment is not needed unless you find two or more larvae per stem.

WHO SAID food prices are too high? Look at these figures as reported this month by the USDA. Of every $100 of after tax income we spent $23 on food in 1952, in 1972 we spent only $15.70. A decrease of 32 per cent. At the same time, expenditures have increased from $4 to $5.90 (48 per cent) for medical care and from $10.60 to $12.50 for automobile, transportation, gas and oil.

Silos dot landscape

COLUMBUS — As you have occasion to drive through the Ohio countryside this spring, notice the large number of silos. There are about 900,000 silos in Ohio, with a total capacity of more than 70 million tons of silage, according to Joe D. Blickle, Extension agricultural engineer at Ohio State University. Before 1875 there were no silos.

This rapid increase in number of silos is related to many changes in farming. Livestock numbers have increased while the amount of pasture has decreased. Many farmers have mechanized their farm operations and are now substituting high-protein grass silage for hay. Silos are also being used to store high moisture feed grains.

There are four types of silos in Ohio. The most common is the upright or tower silo. It is attractive, durable and fire and wind resistant. There is also the air-tight tower storage which keeps the amount of spoilage low.

Another type is the permanent horizontal silo, which is common on beef and dairy farms. The fourth type is the plastic covered stack silo used as a temporary or emergency silo.

Silos allow farmers to get the most feed possible from each acre of corn by utilizing the whole plant. They are somewhat inefficient though, Blickle points out, in that farmers never get as much feed out of a silo as they put in. Losses due to ensiling will depend on the type of silo, crop ensiled, its maturity and moisture content when harvested and the fineness of chopping, he points out.

Have you ever wondered why silos are in the middle of barnyards? Well, they need to be close to where animals are housed. The farmer must consider the amount of time and travel spent feeding livestock. The silo requires open space for filling and hauling silage and also for efficient use of semi-automatic conveying and feeding equipment.

The juice from a medium-size lemon should yield about 2 tablespoons.

Advantages are listed for farm partnerships

By JIM G. POLSON
Area Extension Agent

Today, larger farming operations involving more than one operator are becoming more common. Partnerships, corporations, and other joint operating agreements are often involved in these larger operations. There was an average of 187 partnerships and seven farm corporations per county in the Washington C.H. Extension Area in 1969, according to the Census of Agriculture.

Farm partnerships offer many advantages, and are expected to be on the increase in the next few years. For some, they provide solutions to one or more of the problems faced by Ohio farmers today.

First, they provide an opportunity to combine resources for a larger, more efficient operation.

Secondly, with land prices already "sky-high" and rising, and the necessity of controlling expensive farm equipment and machinery, most young people who want to farm will become even more dependent on some kind of "partnership" agreement with Mom and Dad, in order to get the use of the necessary capital. One example of the "spiraling costs" of farming is the fact that the average value of farmland in Ohio rose 11 per cent from November 1971 to November 1972.

Thirdly, they may permit an established farmer to reduce his labor commitment, by bringing a little "new blood" into the operation.

However, the mere forming of a partnership does not guarantee that it will be a success. One of the great tragedies of American farm life arises from the unnecessary indecision, gnawing doubts, and strained family feelings in father-son partnerships which lack understanding and a written agreement.

If you are now operating a partnership, or if you are considering forming a partnership, be sure that you have a written agreement which clearly outlines the details of how you actually plan to operate. A written agreement will reduce misunderstanding during the life of the partners. You can refer to the details of a written agreement even after many years. Also, if one partner dies and there is no written agreement it is often very difficult to convince all of the heirs of the terms of the agreement.

A new set of farm partnership bulletins, which outlines the steps for forming a farm partnership, is available at your local County Extension Office. If you have questions about farm business organization which are not explained in these bulletins, you may want to discuss them with your County Agricultural Agent.

Pathologist recommends treating soybean seed

Farmers unable to obtain high quality soybean seed should treat it with an approved fungicide, says Eric G. Sharvelle, Purdue University extension plant pathologist.

Poor quality seed relates to the high incidence of pod and stem blight caused by a fungus and to mechanical damage. If the blight was severe in a field last year do not plant beans in that field again this spring, he cautions. However, if you must plant in the field again, plow under all residue; this will reduce the amount of late infection.

Fungicides are somewhat harmful to the nodulation bacteria. But, Sharvelle explains, this can be overcome by allowing the fungicide and bacteria to come into contact for only a short time prior to planting.

"Treat first with fungicide, then inoculate with nodulation bacteria," Sharvelle advises.

Once the seed is in the soil and the nodulation bacteria have made contact with the soil the fungicide will not prevent development of the nodules.

Best method is to treat seed with fungicide prior to planting; then inoculate with nodulation bacteria in the planter box. Or apply both in the planter box. Pre-inoculated seed should not be treated with a fungicide prior to planting.

Apply fungicides at recommended rates and follow manufacturer's directions precisely. All fungicide-treated seed must be planted or destroyed; it can not be used for food or feed, Sharvelle stresses. Check the planter boxes periodically to make sure seed treatments do not plug the planter plates.

Cattlemen plan sale

This year the Buckeye Beef Show will inaugurate a brand new feature. The show, sponsored by the Ohio Cattlemen's Association and the OSU Extension Service, will offer a live steer sale rather than the usual carcass auction.

The sale will be held at the Cooper Arena on the Ohio State Fairgrounds at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, July 10, following the afternoon show at 2 p.m.

Immediately following the sale, the steers will be trucked to the Val Decker Packing Plant at Piqua for carcass grading and judging. Open House and viewing of carcasses will begin on Saturday, July 14, at 10 a.m.

The key objective of the Buckeye Beef Show, according to General Manager Randall Reed, is to assist cattle breeders and feeders as well as beef processors to more accurately appraised the variation in carcass value of live steers of the same weight and quality grade.

Entry blanks for the show and sale are available through the Cooperative Extension Office. Entry deadline is June 15, 1973.

The 1973 Buckeye Beef Show is financially supported by the Ohio Federation of Production Credit

Crop insurance anticipating record year

Jess Bishop, regional sales director, announced today that more Ohio farmers are insuring their crops than at any time since 1938 when Congress passed the Federal Crop Insurance Act.

Last year 4,646 corn farmers were insured for $7,038,602 and 3,682 soybean growers for $4,083,490. An estimated $6,000,000 protection, 1,350 new policies has been written for 1973, making a new record for farmers in Ohio.

Even though Ohio farmers produced a record crop in 1972, harvesting conditions were so bad that many acres were not harvested and have deteriorated to the extent that $453,000 is being paid to Ohio policyholders.

Due to extremely wet fields, planting may be late. Many farmers have signed up for Crop Insurance which protects their crops from losses caused by any natural hazard such as excess rain, flood, drought, hail, plant disease or insect damage. This protection is financed with premiums paid by farmer policyholders.

In order to maintain a sound financial position, Federal Crop Insurance continues the practice of limited gradual expansion. Many counties are near their maximum participation for 1973. May 10 is the last day any new applications or reinstatements of existing policies can be accepted for corn and soybeans.

All farmers wishing service or information should contact the Federal Crop Insurance Office at 27½ S. Detroit St., Xenia, 45385. Telephone: 513-372-5001.

To curb rear-end crashes

One of the worst of many bad driving habits is tailgating. It would take some doing to break drivers of this habit, which contributes heavily to the annual toll of auto deaths. It would not take much, though, to equip cars with a device that experts think might sharply reduce the number of such accidents.

The device referred to is nothing more exotic than a system of tail lights which would not merely signal when a car is braking, as present systems do. It would add two other elements to the information flashed to drivers behind. An amber light would let them know that the car ahead was cruising; a green light would inform them that it was accelerating.

A study a decade ago had already shown that at normal speeds in peak highway traffic volume it is all but impossible for a driver relying on ordinary brake lights to avoid rear-end collision in an emergency. By the time he has acted on the red-light message flashed by the car ahead, it is too late.

The three-light system proposed as an amendment to the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act would be no cureall. It does give promise of reducing the number of rear-end crashes, and that is well worth doing.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Kissinger's Look into the future

WASHINGTON — When drafting the momentous speech he made to the Associated Press editors this week Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on nation security affairs, took a long look at the road ahead. Within the next few years the principals with whom he has worked in formulating a policy of peace — Chou En-lai, Willy Brandt, Leonid Brezhnev — will have passed from the scene.

In Kissinger's thinking the coming three to four years will present the golden opportunity to knit together what had been started. It is an opportunity that may never occur again if this chance for peace slips away by default.

So to the editors in New York he proposed a new and comprehensive approach to Europe and Japan. "We deal with each other regionally and even competitively in economic matter, on an integrated basis in defense, and as nation-states in diplomacy," he said. He was preparing the way for the President's visit to Europe in the fall.

Without extensive progress toward economic cooperation that trip will be useless or even worse than useless. The text of the speech was given to the foreign offices of Europe shortly before its delivery. Kissinger was saying: Here is the broad outline of what could be a new chapter of understanding and common endeavor.

THE HOPE is that within the next week or 10 days response will come from across the Atlantic and the Pacific, and the long and arduous process of working out economic ties can begin. The shadow cast over this hope even as he was speaking was the Watergate scandal and its impact at home and abroad.

In the question period following his prepared address about a third of the questions dealt with Watergate. Another third concerned Vietnam and the rest were miscellaneous. Kissinger scarcely needed this indicator of where editorial interest lay, since it is reflected on the front pages of every newspaper.

Responding to the Watergate questions, he said what he has been expressing in private for some time. If we now indulge in an orgy of recrimination we shall certainly lose the chance to help lead the way to a generation of peace. President Nixon will be in office for another three and a half years and a President crippled or destroyed will serve in dreary futility through a prolonged feud with Congress and the public.

The vengeance - is - mine theme is understandable. The arrogance of the White House has been intolerable, notably on the side of the German Mafia — Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Company. This arrogance has prompted the long unhappy weeks of denial and evasion.

It added up in many instances to rank deceit.

SO NOW, Kissinger is saying, get the bloodletting over and let's get down to what this nation must do in the months ahead. Having known the principals at the top level, he has compassion for their personal tragedies.

As far as Watergate is concerned, the President's security adviser knew nothing of the involvement of the men around the President until the main outlines of the story began to break.

Everything turns on continuing confidence in the United States. If Brezhnev comes here in midsummer a foremost objective will be to achieve a breakthrough in the stalled negotiation in the second round of the SALT talks. without intervention at the top, the talks in Geneva can go on, as did the session just ended, with wearying repetition of old and impossible positions from both sides of the conference table.

As for China, the elderly men in power look for stability and continuity from the United States. They want to see the relationship begun so fortuitously by the president carried on into an indefinite future.

JAMES RESTON in the New York Times compared the Kissinger speech to the address given by Secretary of State George C. Marshall at Harvard when he proposed the plan for rehabilitating Europe that was to bear his name. This may be overstating the case but it seems to one observer better to overstate it rather than treat a masterful presentation merely in turns of the current conflict here at home.

The Marshall Plan, when the United States proceeded to distribute 2.5 per cent of our gross national income to restore war-wounded Europe, was America's finest hour. To achieve what Kissinger has proposed — hardly less than economic union with our trading partners — will, as he knows, be infinitely more difficult.

So much has happened to America's strength in the world since that finest hour.

as their alleged stock in trade; it's rather like suggesting that mathematicians could have a dispute over whether two plus two equals four.

But my pessimistic conclusion, based on batting averages over a five-year period, is that we need more players, not fewer, in the intelligence game.

The horticulture class of daffodils was not judged because of the small number of entries.

7. Sweet violets (small arrangement under eight inches overall) - first, Mrs. Benner; second, Mrs. Seaman; third, Mrs. Campbell and fourth, Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Barrett's 'Red, Red Robin', an unusual arrangement of red maple leaves, and two orange tulips in a mistletoe burl was judged 'best of show.'

Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Haines, Mrs. Thraillkill and Mrs. Barrett presided at the tea table which was lovely in yellow and white.

Miss Schorr honored at bridal shower

Mrs. Rob Minshall and Mrs. Dave Hopkins combined hospitalities at a bridal shower for Miss Constance Schorr, bride-elect of Charles William Link. The shower took place in the Minshall home.

The table was centered with an arrangement of pink, blue and lavender flowers, with white streamers suspended from the ceiling to the table.

Mrs. Clifford Dunnagan was the prize winner.

Festive Refreshments to Serve At Shower Party for Bride-to-Be

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

APRIL SHOWERS are for May and June brides. They're festive occasions and, of course, refreshments are in order. A shower can be as elaborate as a buffet supper or as simple and sweet as a tea party. The tea can be served hot or, even more fun, icy cold in a punch.

What makes this punch special as to color and flavor is orange and spice-flavored tea. It mixes marvelously well with the citrus flavors of lemon and orange juices. Ginger ale contributes sparkle and, if you really want punch, add white rum.

BRIDAL PUNCH

1 quart water
4 orange and spice-flavored tea bags
1 cup fresh lemon juice
2 cups fresh orange juice
1 cup sugar
1 quart ginger ale, chilled
1 to 2 cups white rum, optional
Ice ring or block

Bring water to boil in large saucepan, add tea bags, cover pan and steep 5 minutes. Remove tea bags; cool tea.

Pour tea into punch bowl, add lemon flavored 9-inch pans. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven for 30 minutes or until layers test done. Cool layers thoroughly on racks. Fill and frost according to Lady Baltimore Cake or Orange and Spice Torte recipes.

Makes 3 (9-inch) cake layers.

LADY BALTIMORE CAKE

2½ cups sugar
4 teaspoons light corn syrup
1 cup water
3 egg whites, stiffly-beaten
¾ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cups diced dried California apricots

½ cup dark seedless raisins
¾ cup finely chopped walnuts
3 (9-inch) cake layers

Make fluffy white frosting by combining sugar, corn syrup and water in 1½ quart saucepan. Boil to 242 degrees F. or until thread spins from spoon. Pour syrup slowly, beating constantly, over the stiffly beaten egg whites in large bowl. Add ¾ teaspoon vanilla and and orange juices and sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Just before serving, add ginger ale, rum and ice. Garnish with orange slices and maraschino cherries, if desired.

Makes 3 quarts.

Bake a spectacular cake to serve with tea or punch. Both the Southern Lady Baltimore Cake and the Orange and Spice Torte start from a basic 3-layer "made-from-scratch" cake.

BASIC CAKE RECIPE

2-3 cup soft butter or margarine
1-3 cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
3 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
¼ cup water

6 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Cream butter, shortening, sugar and extract together in large bowl until light and fluffy. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Blend milk and water together. Into butter mixture, blend flour mixture alternately with milk mixture. Fold in the egg whites. Pour into three greased and continue beating (about 7 minutes) until frosting is fluffy and holds its shape.

In separate bowl, toss together diced apricots, ½ cup raisins and ¾ cup walnuts; mix with two-thirds of fluffy white frosting. Spread this filling on top of 2 cake layers and stack. Frost top of cake with remaining frosting. If desired, garnish cake with apricot and walnut halves.

ORANGE AND SPICE TORTE

1 cup butter or margarine
16 ounces (1 pound) sifted confectioners sugar
3 tablespoons orange and spice-flavored instant tea
¼ cup water
3 (9-inch) cake layers
Beat butter with 1 cup of the sugar until blended. Dissolve instant tea powder in water; add to butter mixture alternately with remaining sugar. Beat thoroughly. Fill and frost layers with tea frosting.

Two year-old guest of honor

Master Matthew Charles Crouse was the guest of honor on his second birthday Wednesday, when Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Crouse were hosts for a turkey dinner for little Matthew and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crouse and daughters, Miss Pammye Grove and Miss Tamara Lynn Crouse.

A colorful tiered birthday cake was the center of attraction and Matthew enjoyed opening his gifts and a joyful playtime followed.

LADY BALTIMORE CAKE is filled with an apricot-walnut mixture and topped with fluffy white frosting.

ORANGE and spice-flavored tea flavors the filling and frosting of torte made from the Basic Cake Recipe.

Make apple pie

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

There's a way to make an apple pie so that juices won't seep out during the baking. For this neat trick you bake the apples in a double-crust pastry with an opening cut in the center of the top crust. When the pastry has browned and the apples are tender, you insert a funnel in the center opening and pour in a Nutmeg Orange Syrup. After the pie has cooled and the syrup has set, the dessert is ready to serve.

NEVER-BOIL-OVER APPLE PIE

Pastry from a 2-crust 9-inch pie 6 medium (about 2 pounds) tart apples (pared, cored and sliced)

Nutmeg Orange Syrup, see below

Arrange apples in pastry-lined pie plate. Cut a round opening in the center of the top crust large enough to insert the end of a small funnel. Cover apples with top crust; seal and flute edge.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until crust is browned and apples are tender — about 50 minutes. Remove from oven and immediately insert funnel in center opening. Pour Nutmeg Orange Syrup into funnel, about 1-3 at a time, tilting pie after each addition to allow syrup to spread evenly. Cool.

Note: Prepare Nutmeg Orange Syrup while pie is baking, timing it to be finished about the same time as the pie is ready to be taken out of oven.

Partly cloudy skies today with temperatures on the cool side is the prediction for most of Ohio by the National Weather Service.

The state will be under a strong north to northwest flow of cold air today resulting from an intense storm in Central New York and an elongated ridge of high pressure from Minnesota to East Texas.

The New York storm will move north into Quebec. The ridge will be very slow to come east however holding temperatures on the cold side.

During early Saturday morning skies began clearing over much of the state. Eastern sections of the state continued to have cloudy skies with scattered showers.

Temperatures were uniforming low and at dawn Cincinnati and Findlay were the coldest at 36 degrees. Youngstown was only a degree warmer despite its clouds and intermittent rain.

Rain has been rather light since midnight Friday but that was not the story Friday evening.

During Friday evening Cleveland had 0.28 inches of rain while Youngstown received 0.27 inches and Marietta 0.20 inches. Measureable amounts of rain were also received as far west as Cincinnati's Lunken Airport.

Alleged fraud brings tax suit

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — An Ashtabula family has filed a $4.73 million taxpayers suit against four persons, charging them with land fraud. The defendants include Fred Morr, former director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson investigated the alleged fraud, but was unable to get the attorney general's office to file charges, so the suit was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fisher.

The suit claims Morr, James Hallett, Hart B. Morrison and Theodore H. Case with conspiring to sell land to the state at inflated prices.

Hoosiers face some confusion over food tax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Learning what is "food for human consumption" for what isn't for Indiana's new sales tax "could potentially create a very unhappy situation" with the customers, a spokesman for Hoosier grocers say.

The sales tax doubles to 4 per cent on Tuesday. Grocery food such as meat, bread and milk will be exempt from the tax, but other products such as paper and candy will not.

"We are faced with a situation that will require us to separate the taxable from the nontaxable items in order to process them through our checkout stands," said Joe Lackey, executive secretary of the Central Indiana Council of Food Distributors, Inc.

He urged Hoosier shoppers to show "understanding and patience" as checkout clerks learn to wrestle with the sales tax exemption.

Terminal, land

purchase clears court hurdle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Efforts by Columbus to purchase the Union Terminal and land surrounding it from the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad for a convention center cleared one hurdle Friday but still faces another.

A federal court judge in Philadelphia gave the railroad permission to go ahead with the multi-million-dollar transaction with the city. Approval was required because the court is overseeing the reorganization of Penn Central.

But a suit to block the city's purchase of the 27-acre site north of the downtown area still is unresolved in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

A May 11 hearing has been set on the suit, brought by Columbus attorney Joseph Waterman.

Phils' Steve Carlton stops Reds with tidy four-hitter

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — This past winter, when Danny Ozark was the surprise choice to manage the Philadelphia Phillies, he had a talk with his Cy Young Award-winning left-hander Steve Carlton.

Ozark expressed to the 28-year-old pitcher that he wasn't particularly fond of mustaches. Carlton wore a mustache, and although not ordered, he shaved it off.

With or without a mustache, Carlton was a formidable figure on the mound Friday night, hurling the Phils to a 3-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds with a four-hitter.

"He's someone to look up to," said Ozark after Carlton ran his record to 4-2. "He's done more for our young players than anyone else."

"He's a figurehead, a person by himself, but he's something else. He came to spring training with the same determination he had last year, maybe more. He'll never quit," Ozark said.

"He's helped me a whole lot," Ozark continued. "Like with the mustache. All I said was that I preferred he didn't wear one. He fully agreed with me. Anything I wanted from him, I got."

One thing Ozark wanted was victories and he has Carlton producing that wish.

Carlton is certain he can match last year's 27 win season.

"I did it last year, I can do it again," he said.

Reds manager Sparky Anderson, who watched Carlton beat Cincinnati for only the fourth time in 10 lifetime decisions, was in awe.

"He's one of the tops no matter how you rate them," Anderson said. Informed Carlton didn't think he had good stuff, Anderson merely laughed.

"He's looked awfully good from where I was sitting. I know I didn't want to have a bat."

The Phils handed young Cincinnati left-hander Ross Grimsley his first loss after three victories. Singles by Larry Bowa, Mike Anderson and Willie Montanez, combined with errors by Bobby Tolan and Denis Menke, produced two first inning runs while Bill Robinson's double and Mike Schmidt's single accounted for Philadelphia's final run. Cincinnati's only run came in the sixth when Dave Concepcion singled, took second on a wild pitch and moved up one base at a time on infield outs by Joe Morgan and Tolan.

The Reds and Phils meet again tonight with Cincinnati's Don Gullett, 3-1, and Philadelphia's Dick Ruthven, 0-0.

Pro tennis team possible in Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Professional tennis may join pro hockey and basketball in Cincinnati next year, The Cincinnati Enquirer reported today.

William O. DeWitt Jr., vice president of the Cincinnati Hockey Club Corp., which is negotiating with the city for construction of a hockey arena on the riverfront, attended a series of meetings Friday conducted by founders of the World Team Tennis League in Miami, Fla.

Royals pilot unsurprised by pitching performance

DETROIT (AP) — Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon figured it was inevitable that Steve Busby would pitch a no-hitter.

He told him so last year, when the young right-hander was pitching for him at Omaha, the Royals' Triple-A farm club.

"He was pitching a no-hitter against Tulsa," related McKeon. "Then he gave up a single in the ninth inning. I went out there and told him, 'Don't worry about it. You'll pitch a no-hitter in the big leagues.'"

"He'll pitch a couple more, too," the first-year Royals field boss added, after the 23-year-old rookie pitched a 3-0 no-hit victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night.

Busby walked six and struck out four in becoming the first American League hurler to pitch a no-hitter since Oakland's Vida Blue against Minnesota Sept. 21, 1970.

"I'm just flabbergasted. I don't know what to say," the 6-foot-2, 205-pounder from Fullerton, Calif., said between "thank you's" to the hoard of teammates who flocked to him offering congratulations.

"This is the greatest thrill in my life," he added, somehow sounding less excited than his fellow Royals, who were yelling with joy at his effort. It was the first no-hitter in Kansas City's 18 years of major league baseball, including 13 years the Oakland Athletics franchise was in K.C.

Busby had combined with a three-inning relief job by Doug Bird to pitch a no-hit exhibition game against Detroit in Florida this year. Busby later no-hit St. Louis for seven innings and earned the starting nod in the Royals' opening game.

He lost 3-2, then beat Chicago 12-5 and was clobbered by the White Sox 16-2. His earned-run average entering the Tiger game was 8.04. He had given up 26 hits and 14 earned runs in 15 2-3 innings.

"He skipped his last turn," McKeon said. "People were saying I lost faith in the guy. But he just had a stiff shoulder."

Busby got behind many batters, yet got the right pitches when he needed them.

KC's Busby no-hits Tigers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Steve Busby is a no-no for the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers couldn't get a hit off the Kansas City rookie in spring training—and continued that frustrating inefficiency in the regular season Friday night.

The 3-0 no-hitter, first in the American League since 1970, was called the "greatest thrill of my life" by the 23-year-old right-hander. He used a different strategy than in spring training, when he and Doug Bird combined for a no-hitter against Detroit. "Down there at Fort Myers, Fla., I tried to hit spots," explained the blond Busby, a onetime University of Southern California student. "Tonight I threw 75 per cent fastballs and nearly all the rest sliders."

In the other American League games, the Texas Rangers defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2, the Cleveland Indians downed the California Angels 6-2 and the Oakland A's nipped the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 in 12 innings. Two games were rained out—Minnesota at New York and Chicago at Boston.

The no-hitter was the first ever pitched by a Kansas City player and the first in the American League since Oakland's Vida Blue pitched one against the Minnesota Twins on Sept. 21, 1970.

Dick Bosman and Steve Foucault scattered nine hits and Jeff Burroughs drilled a two-run single as the Rangers defeated the Brewers.

Burroughs' hit in the third inning gave the Rangers a 3-0 lead and provided Bosman with his second victory in five decisions this year.

Cleveland's Milt Wilcox, making his first start of the season, flirted with a no-hitter for seven innings and wound up with a three-hit victory over California.

The Indian right-hander, who entered the game with a 7.36 earned run average, struck out four and walked one while hitting two batters.

Designated hitter Angel Mangual led off the 12th inning with a home run to lift Oakland over Baltimore. The shot over the right field fence capped a long-ball battle.

All seven runs in the game came on homers. Boog Powell and Don Baylor hit homers for the Orioles while Joe Rudi and Gene Tenace slugged homers along with Mangual for the A's.

Celtics find deadlock

NEW YORK (AP) — Momentum. Does Boston have that edge now over the New York Knicks? "I'm not going to say anything about it," the Celtics' Jo Jo White said, grinning. "But we got them in Boston last time—and we got 'em back there again."

"Don't ask me about Los Angeles," Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn sighed. "We can't afford to think about that. All we can think about is Sunday."

That's what the Knicks have to think about too. Two games ago, they seemed to have the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference finals neatly wrapped up. They led the Celtics 3-1 in the best-of-seven series, and Boston's captain and scoring leader, John Havlicek, could barely raise his right arm because of torn shoulder muscles.

It looked like a cinch that the Knicks would finish off the Celtics and advance to the finals for a rematch of last year's championship series, when the Los Angeles Lakers swept to the title in five games.

Now it's a dogfight again. On Wednesday night in Boston, the Celtics watched a big lead shrivel and die, then scrambled for a 98-97 victory. And

Pistol matches slated Sunday

The first of what is to become a monthly series of pistol matches will be held by the Fayette County Fish and Game Association from 10 a.m. until dark Sunday at the Stafford Road range.

The purpose of the matches is to promote interest in sport handgun shooting, and all pistol shooters, novice and expert alike, are invited to attend, according to chairman Phil French.

French said five shooters will compete in each individual match. There will be a $1 entry fee and cash prizes will be awarded to the top three shooters in each match.

fence.

With Pat Dobson stifling the Mets on three hits, that was all the Braves needed for a 2-0 triumph.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco blanked St. Louis 5-0, Philadelphia downed Cincinnati 3-1, the Chicago Cubs swamped San Diego 10-2 and Houston nipped Montreal 6-5 in 10 innings. The Los Angeles-Pittsburgh game was rained out.

Aaron's home run was his fifth of a season which thus far has been homer or nothing. His only other hits are a double and a single and he's hitting only .146. But he's now 36 away from his run at Babe Ruth's record of 714 homers.

San Francisco's Jim Barr hurled a two-hitter and Tito Fuentes drove in three runs with a triple and sacrifice fly as the Giants shut out St. Louis and Bob Gibson for their fifth consecutive triumph and 17th in 22 games. The Giants opened a 3½-game lead over Cincinnati in the NL West.

Philadelphia's Steve Carlton checked Cincinnati on four hits for his fourth victory. The Phillies quickly got Carlton all the runs he needed by jumping on Ross Grimsley for two in the first inning on singles by Larry Bowa, Mike Anderson and Willie Montanez and an error.

Jose Cardenal drove in four runs with a double and single as Chicago whipped San Diego. Two-run doubles by Cardenal and Rick Monday paced a six-run explosion in the second inning. Milt Pappas became the Cubs' ninth one-game winner.

Houston rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to tie Montreal and edged the Expos in the 10th on pinch hitter Jimmy Stewart's first hit of the season, a single that scored Jim Wynn.

Friday night in New York's Madison Square Garden, they played the Knicks evenly for 43 minutes, then ran away behind Dave Cowens, White and Havlicek, for a 110-100 triumph that deadlocked the best-of-seven series at three games apiece.

Bengals set 1973 schedule

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Bengals will open their 1973 regular season home schedule against the Houston Oilers at 1 p.m., Sunday, September 23 at Riverfront Stadium.

The Bengals' first regular season game will be played on the road against the Denver Broncos on Sunday, September 16 at Mile High Stadium in Denver.

In addition to Houston, the Bengals will host Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, the New York Jets, St. Louis and Minnesota at Riverfront during 1973. St. Louis and Minnesota will be making their first regular season appearances in Cincinnati.

THE ROAD portion of the schedule sends the Bengals to Denver, San Diego, Dallas, Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Houston.

"This is the toughest schedule we've been confronted with in our short history," said Paul E. Brown, general manager-head coach of the Bengals. "Besides our regular AFC Central Division (Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Houston) we're getting Kansas City, Minnesota, Dallas and the Jets, all teams that have played in a Super Bowl."

"I'm happy the schedule gives our fans the opportunity to see two teams that have never been here before in the regular season — Minnesota and St. Louis," Brown added.

"Then, of course, it's always nice from a fan's standpoint for Joe Namath and the Jets to come to town," said Brown.

Following the trip to Denver and the home opener with Houston, the Bengals will travel to San Diego on September 30 for a battle with the Chargers.

The Bengals then return home to Riverfront for three consecutive games. The first two will be key AFC Central Division clashes. The Cleveland Browns come to Cincinnati on October 7 and will be followed by the Pittsburgh Steelers, defending AFC Central champs, on October 14. The Kansas City Chiefs will wind up the Bengals' three-game homestand on October 21.

Cincinnati then goes on the road the next three weeks, meeting Pittsburgh, October 28, Dallas, November 4 and Buffalo, November 11.

THE BENGALS return to Cincinnati for three straight games starting on November 18 with the New York Jets. On November 25, the St. Louis Cardinals are here and then come the Minnesota Vikings on December 2 for the final home game of the season.

Cincinnati winds up its season on the road against two AFC Central Division opponents. The Bengals will be in Cleveland on December 9 and Houston on December 16.

SOME WATER HAZARD — Golfer Lee Trevino picks his way through a flooded walkway at the Preston Trail Golf Club in Dallas, Tex. Heavy rains flooded a creek that runs through the course. Trevino's hopes of becoming golf's fourth $1 million winner were crushed as he surrendered from the Nelson classic with shoulder problems.

HOW SWEET IT IS — Don Bies, of Seattle, Wash., throws up his hands after sinking a 40-foot putt on the 18th hole of the first round in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Bob Dickson saves lead in Nelson

DALLAS (AP) — Bob Dickson got into trouble Friday in the second round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic, but saved par in a situation that would have shaken him two years ago.

Dickson shot a four-under-par 66 to take a one-stroke edge at the 36-hole mark over Don Bies of Seattle, the first round leader.

The big test for Dickson, who made birdie putts of 8, 10, 12 and 3 feet, came at the 553-yard par five 15th hole when he dunked his second shot in a lake. His fourth short sailed over the green but he saved par with a 40-foot putt from the fringe.

"I've been playing with confidence since I won at San Diego," Dickson said. "That was a good save I made. I've been in this position before and blown the whole round. Now, I just play it low key and get my par."

Dickson, who was the first man since Bobby Jones to capture the American and British amateur titles in one year, won his first professional tournament as a rookie—the Haig Open in 1968. He has struggled until this year when he took the San Diego Open.

Don't take others — or yourself — too seriously. A bit of fun and frivolity will do wonders for your morale.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A time for definitely clarifying your objectives. Get in touch with those who share your interests and, between you, work out a clear and concise program of action.

You may have to make some concessions in a family matter, but the end results will be well worthwhile. Expect some good news in the p.m.

You make the most of modern devices and your thinking is truly progressive. You have a great love of beauty, both as applied to nature and the arts, and are extremely discriminating in your tastes. A wholesome outlook on life and optimism in the face of obstacles are also notable traits. Fields in which you could excel: Writing, journalism, medicine, diplomacy, music and painting. In fact, you add a modicum of art and beauty to anything you undertake.

MONDAY, APRIL 30

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Some awkward situations can be worked on successfully; an opponent made an ally. Adroit thinking is the answer — plus a shrewd bit of diplomacy.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Use care in handling both job and family affairs. Don't take success for granted. It must be earned — all the way.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Some trends changing. Synchronize your activities to accommodate. Curb a tendency to become overly emotional in a relatively unimportant situation.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You may be faced with some intensified pressure in job areas. Don't be dismayed. You can handle all ably. As with Gemini, however, don't battle over trivia.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Your tenacity and driving power can help you to win big gains now. In your upward climb, however, be careful not to ride roughshod over others.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Fine Mercury influences now stimulate your mental agility and keen perception. Take the reins firmly in hand and drive straight and sure — to success.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Don't be overly concerned about the behavior of associates. Make suggestions where you think them appropriate, but only IF they will aid and IF the time is ripe.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You will do yourself a big favor if you do not overtax yourself, and your sixth sense should tell you whether you ARE overdoing things or not. Curb spending.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Certain complexities need unravelling, and YOU can right them. A good day for handling tricky situations, mediating disputes.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Stellar influences indicate some indecisiveness. Counter by urging yourself into positive action. Handle each situation as it presents itself, evaluate each on its OWN merits.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

It is within your realm to elbow some competition deftly out of position now. But don't sit back when you have the advantage. Keep thinking, maneuvering to REMAIN ahead.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You could make a profitable financial deal but, even if asked, keep the details to yourself. Some would gladly try to take advantage of your good fortune.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great artistry, a fine mind and a willingness to work hard to reach your goals. You are a person of high ideas, with built-in magnetism and a strong feeling for tradition. However, you incline toward stubbornness and your extremist attitudes often lead others to find you dogmatic. Try to curb these traits since they alienate others unnecessarily. You can achieve notable success as an artist, interior decorator, designer, singer, lecturer, musician or horticulturist.

Education meet studies proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Teachers, parents and state officials were to meet here today to review 50 education proposals before submitting a list of recommendations to the General Assembly.

The meeting culminates a series of seminars on the future of Ohio public education held in 600 school districts and 88 counties during the past year.

A "consensus report" to be written at the conference would answer a mandate by the last General Assembly to explore new educational philosophies and teaching methods.

Top priority at the conference was expected to be teacher qualifications, especially in the areas of special education, industrial arts, science and mathematics.

Several of the 52 Ohio colleges offering education degrees were on the verge of discreditation in these

Brown shies from memo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown stepped away Friday from association with a memo from his communications officer John A. Leddingham Jr., instructing section chiefs in the attorney general's office on how to deal with newsmen.

The memo, circulated last month, said calls from the news media should be answered with the message from a secretary that "you are 'in conference' but will return the call as quickly as possible if the newsmen will tell the secretary what the matter regards."

It went on to say the person called should then contact Leddingham's office and when it could be ascertained what was "going on," he would "feed information back to you so that you may return the call or at least be advised as to a plan of action."

The memo also advised that secretaries were never to say that all calls from the news media "have to go through Mr. Leddingham."

Saying he thought the memo "poorly worded," Brown suggested that Leddingham, who is his liaison with the news media, "was attempting only to expedite information from the attorney general's staff." Brown added the memorandum "was not the policy of the office."

Technical school issue to receive county board study

The Fayette County Board of Education will consider requesting that a technical school be established at the Laurel Oaks Career Development Center when it meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Staunton Elementary School.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said the board will cooperate with boards of education in Clinton and Highland counties in making the formal request to the Ohio Board of Regents.

Board members are also expected to hear a request from the Ohio Association of Public School Employees group of the Miami Trace School District for the right to represent and negotiate for non-certified employees with the board of education.

The group studying school building needs in the Miami Trace District will present a report. Foster said the group recently toured the Big Walnut School District at Sunbury.

Requests for the clerk and assistants to attend the Ohio Clerk - Treasurers clinic June 18 at Columbus, and Gilbert Jones to attend the annual OAPSE conference May 16-18 also will be considered.

Opening lead - king of hearts.
Some of the declarer's most effective plays are extremely simple in nature. Accomplishing his aim does not necessarily require declarer to indulge in complicated strategy or exotic play. Simplest is often best.
Consider this deal where South went wrong. West led the king of hearts, followed by the ace. Declarer ruffed, played a trump to the queen and another trump back to the ace.

With West showing out, South was in trouble. Recognizing that he could not afford to draw East's remaining trumps - for in that case he would find himself denuded of trumps and at West's mercy - South led the king of diamonds.

Had West taken the King, South would have had a smooth ride home. But West, sensing declarer's problem at this point, played low on the king as East followed suit with the eight to show a doubleton.

South was now a totally deceased pigeon. He did as well as he could when he led another diamond, but West rose with the ace, returned a diamond which East ruffed, and South finished down one.

Declarer could have avoided this outcome by a relatively simple maneuver. Instead of ruffing the ace of hearts at trick two, he should have discarded a club. The club was a loser in any case, and South should willingly have conceded it at the start of the hand rather than weaken his trump position by ruffing the second heart lead.

Declarer could not be certain that a club discard at trick two would make the contract, but it offered the best chance of eventually garnering ten tricks. The play was almost sure to prove effective. Moreover, it had in its favor the virtue of simplicity.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Emphysema Linked to Obesity

Emphysema is a severe, and often catastrophic, lung condition. It is pathetic that such a disease occurs so frequently when some of its preventable causes are well known.

Cigarette smoking is one of the most important culprits.

Now, a group of French scientists have reported a very definite link between emphysema and obesity.

Dr. J. Ginot, and his co-workers at the University of Nantes, have studied a group of patients whose weight ranged from 200 pounds to 300 pounds. They found that the vital capacity of the lungs, and the respiratory movements of the lungs are diminished when there is excess weight.

Unfortunately, not all the causes of emphysema are as clearly demarcated as tobacco and obesity. Certainly these two should be eliminated to avoid the disaster of progressive emphysema.

The successful attack on Parkinson's disease with Lodopa and surgery is a testimonial to the support of scientific research. Only in this way can this and other diseases be relentlessly studied for the purpose of ultimate control.

Now, from the Tulane University School of Medicine and the Clinical Research Institute of Montreal, are reports that a special hormone has been found and used effectively for the control of some types of Parkinsonism. Dr. Abba J. Kastin and Dr. Andre Barbeau are using the hormone in an effort to treat aspects of the condition that are not responding to L-dopa.

Many complex problems revolve about this hormone whose exact function must yet be clarified. When this occurs it should be another force in the treatment of this condition.

Pacemakers implanted in the body have, during the past decade, controlled the regular rhythmic beats of the heart in patients with cardiac irregularity.

This life-saving device is now universally used.

One of its disadvantages is that the battery now in use may last only from two to three years. Then there is a need for replacement. Although the surgical risk is not great, it is, of course, preferable if the pacemaker lasted longer.

Two French doctors, working at the Hospital Broussais in Paris, are using pacemakers that are powered with plutonium-238 to prolong the use of the pacemaker without frequent replacement.

Dr. Paul Laurens and Dr. Armand Pivnicka believe that the newly powered atomic pacemakers can survive for more than ten years without replacement.

This is indeed an important additional contribution.

Jail father charged with cutting son, 17

A Bloomingburg man who allegedly stabbed his son during a fight at their home Thursday night was arrested by sheriff's deputies Friday on a charge of cutting to wound.

Oval McCallister, 54, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, is lodged in the county jail under $500 bond. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said McCallister was apprehended by the Madison County Sheriff's Department Friday and returned to the local jail.

He is charged with stabbing his son, Jimmy McCallister, 17, in the left chest while the two were engaged in a fight in their Myers Road home.

The younger McCallister was treated at Memorial Hospital and released.

BOND has been set at $1,000 each for two Jamestown men charged with possession of marijuana.

Sheriff's deputies said the two were charged after small amounts of the drug were found on their possession during a routine traffic arrest on Ohio 729 near Milledgeville.

The charges were filed against John A. Reed, 23, and Estle R. Reed, 18. Both are still incarcerated in the county jail and will appear in Municipal Court Monday.

A CAR reportedly stolen from a Forest Street parking space early Saturday was recovered by police a short time later a block away from the theft scene.

Officers said Stephen Campbell of 719 Harrison St., reported the 1970 model car stolen just after 3 a.m. He told police the car had been parked on Forest Street.

Officers investigated the theft and found the car parked a block away.

Lowell Rudd, of 720 Clinton Ave., reported someone sprayed paint on the inside of his garage door and killed three pigeons kept in the garage. The incident occurred Thursday night.

Driver held after crash

Police arrested Kenneth L. Groves, 34, Rt. 1, on a drunken driving charge after his car involved in an accident on Temple Street, just east of North Street, at 6:20 p.m. Friday.

Officers investigating the accident said Groves was eastbound on Temple and collided with the rear of a car driven by Jacqueline K. Burchfield, 18, of Hamilton. There was minor damage to the rear of the Burchfield car.

Groves was also cited for failing to maintain assured clear distance.

Police investigated another minor two-car mishap on Market Street in front of the Post Office Friday afternoon.

Officers said a car driven by Harley F. Mann, 54, Rt. 3, backed from a parking space and struck an eastbound car driven by Martha G. Meriweather, 69, of 239 Oakland Ave.

There was minor damage in the 2:44 p.m. crash.

Aging conference scheduled Monday

Although it is now too late for reservation for lunch, anyone interested in the District Conference on Aging at Circleville Monday will be welcome to attend the meetings in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House, Mrs. Gladys Kirk, of the Extension Service staff here, said Saturday. The conference will open at 9:30 a.m. and continue to 3 p.m.

Mrs. Kirk expressed the hope that a large delegation will attend from here "to let other communities know that Fayette Countians care about the older citizens."

The theme of the district conference (Fayette, Fairfield and Pickaway counties) is "Local Responsibilities and Resources." The workshops will be repeated so two may be attended.

Among the things to be taken up are mobile meals, housing, center programs, transportation, Social Security, mental health, volunteer service and consumer protection.

READY MONDAY — The newest addition to the Fayette Center is this office building which will house Western-Southern Life Insurance Co., the Ohio Employment Service, and the office of Dr. Kwok-kuen Wong, a physician.

Fayette Center Building ready for first tenant

The Fayette Center Office Building, adjoining the Fayette County Bank off Elm Street, has been under construction since last fall and will be ready to receive its first tenant Monday.

The complex will house three offices in all, the other two being scheduled for opening on or before the first of July.

The Western - Southern Life Insurance Co. will be moving from its present office at 105 1/2 N. Main St., (above the First National Bank) over the weekend and should be operating in its new quarters Monday afternoon. The new building offers them a ground floor setting with adequate parking for patrons.

Dr. Kwok-kuen Wong, who specializes in obstetrics and gynecology, will begin practice in the office at 5 Fayette Center on July 1, but he hopes to have a receptionist available by June 15 to accept appointments and arrange files.

The remaining office has been leased to the Ohio Employment Service, beginning the first of July. The new location will have 50 per cent more space than its present office on Court Street, and an adequate parking area. The moving of the bureau is expected to cause no disruption of services.

Audience praises performance of 'Guys and Dolls'

An enthusiastic audience of around 1,000, which saw the opening night performance of "Guys and Dolls" by a cast of Miami Trace High School students Friday, came away describing the musical comedy of the era between prohibition and World War II in superlatives.

The production will be presented again Saturday night in the MTHS auditorium by the cast of more than 70 boys and girls, who turned back the clock to the days of gangsters and night clubs.

Outstanding performances were given by Vicki Lowe, Bob Ford, Dawn Schlichter, Greg Detty and Alan Marshall. Most of the comedy was carried by Keith Early and Scott Crissinger, who did an outstanding job.

Other major roles were taken by Kathy Woodfork, Paula Alkire, John Eltzroth, Doug Joseph, Brian Streitenberger, Dave Phillips, Lisa Louis, Eric Kreiger, Steve Deere and Chuck Drake.

Among the hits of the show were the separate chorus lines of 12 dancing girls and 30 boys. The girls performed in "The Hot Box" night club and the boys "did their thing" in a sewer setting where they were holding a crap game. Miss Kristi Cross, a MTHS graduate, now a student at Ohio State, was the choreographer.

The stage setting, with 50,000 watts of lighting, added much to the production. The orchestra, composed of MTHS students and several from Ohio State was directed by Dennis Avey, an MTHS graduate now enrolled at Ohio State.

Mrs. Cinda Stinson was the director, Vernon Stanforth the student director and Donald Riber, the technical adviser.

Settlement reached in school suit

CHILLICOTHE — The Chillicothe School District will receive about $150,000 as a settlement in its 12-year-old suit against the Sever-Williams Construction Co., of Washington C. H.

Judge Thomas Mitchell, of Jackson County, who heard the case, said the settlement calls for Sever-Williams to pay the school district $137,000 plus interest, the amount of the firm's bond when it bid on constructing the new Chillicothe High School in 1961.

According to Judge Mitchell, the agreement was reached following discussions between William Stanhope, attorney for the Chillicothe Board of Education, and Sever-Williams officials.

The suit originated when Sever-Williams submitted its bid for the construction of the new high school. According to William E. Williams, of the Sever-Williams firm, the bid omitted an item of a substantial sum and the firm asked to have the bid disqualified, but the board of education refused to grant the request.

KIRKPATRICK FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

A growing number of people are dying away from what they call home. Many are in new retirement communities. Others have taken jobs in another city - sometimes their parents follow them. There are those who will die while traveling. When death does occur, it is wise to phone your local funeral director to arrange for the return of the deceased for burial.

Respectfully,

Richard Kirkpatrick
